JFK's widow plans to wed shipper, 62

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy, whose marriage to the nation's 35th president was ended by an assassin's bullet, announced Thursday she will be the bride of one of the world's richest men, Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Socrates Onassis. He is more than 20 years her senior.

Onassis 'Golden Greek'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dubbed the Golden Greek for his self-made riches, the man Jacqueline Kennedy plans to marry is a great charmer of the jet set—suave, witty and amusing though prone to the blues.

Aristotle Socrates Onassis started out with less than nothing—a stateless person—and was a millionaire at 25. He pyramided his millions as his shipping fortune grew with the accumulation of tankers, freighters, whalers—the largest private fleet in the world.

For years Onassis controlled the casino and resort buildings in Monte Carlo until Prince Rainier forced him out after a minipower struggle that ended in 1967.

Before the romance with Mrs. Kennedy, Onassis, now 62, was a long-time companion of New York-born opera soprano Maria Callas. In 1960, his marriage to Athina "Tina" Mary Onassis foundered. She sued him for divorce.

The marriage of 13 years and two children ended with an Alabama decree. Miss Callas' marriage to the wealthy Italian industrialist, Giovan Battista Meneghini, also went on the rocks.

He has homes in New York, Paris, Antibes, Athens and Montevideo and his offices are located in half a dozen countries, but he started out with no place to call his own.

His family, Greek tobacco merchants living in Smyrna, was ruined by the Greek-Turkish war of the early 1920s. Onassis lost his citizenship and went to Argentina as a stateless person. A job as a night telephone operator in Buenos Aires at age 16 started his career.

After a time he became a tobacco importing agent. Then, at 24, he was appointed Greek consul general. His work as consul involved supervision over Greek grain vessels—the start of his shipping career.

With money he saved, Onassis was able during the depression of the early 1930s to buy two Canadian freighters. Tankers followed, and soon the shipping empire.

However, her two young children, under present law, would be eligible to continue to have the protection of Secret Service agents until they reach age 16, unless such protection is declined.

A short time after the announcement, Mrs. Kennedy and her two children boarded an Olympic Airways plane at Kennedy Airport, presumably bound for Onassis' native Greece.

Accompanying Mrs. Kennedy aboard the chartered jetliner were two of her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Patricia Kennedy, the former Mrs. Peter Lawford.

The destination of the flight was not made known. However, Olympic is a Greek airline.

The wedding is expected to take place next week. The time and place have not been announced.

A British Broadcasting Corp. correspondent reported from New York that the wedding will be on a Greek island owned by Onassis, in the Ionian sea.

A rash of unconfirmed reports on the impending nuptials was climaxed in mid-afternoon Thursday with an announcement by Jacqueline's mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss in Washington.

"My daughter, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, is planning to marry Mr. Aristotle Onassis," Mrs. Auchincloss said.

The statement was relayed through Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, Nancy Tuckerman, in New York, who added: "I can only tell you that the wedding will probably take place next week. The time and the place have not been determined. I will have more information tomorrow."

It could not be determined immediately whether Mrs. Kennedy is free to marry Onassis in her Roman Catholic faith. He is divorced and the church prohibits such a marriage, unless his first union is found to be invalid.

Onassis is Greek Orthodox, has that church's approval of the divorce, and the couple could be married in his faith.

Mrs. Kennedy is 39, and has two children, Caroline, 10, and John F. Kennedy, Jr., 7. She has been a widow since Nov. 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.

Onassis, 62, was divorced in 1960 after a 13-year marriage to the former Tina Livanos, blonde daughter of another multimillionaire Greek shipowner. They had two children. She later married England's Marquis of Blandford.

The announcement of the planned marriage came after years of speculation by the nation and the world as to what the future held for the glamorous presidential widow.

Bombing dialogue increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pushed ahead with bombing halt consultations with its allies Thursday despite resistance from Saigon and a denunciation from Hanoi.

But the White House and State Department kept tight silence on the latest developments in President Johnson's effort for a major peace move before he leaves office in January.

In Saigon, informed sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu refused to sign a joint declaration proposed by the United States on stopping the bombing of North Vietnam and U.S. ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was meeting again with the South Vietnamese chief.

In Hanoi, the official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan attacked what it termed "this arrogant demand" by President Johnson for reciprocity from North Vietnam in return for ending the air attacks.

Johnson himself made no reference to the diplomatic situation while publicly bestowing a Presidential Unit Citation on the 5th Marine Regiment for extraordinary heroism in Vietnam.

The United States is consulting its war allies under the normal practice of discussing potential policy, practical or diplomatic moves with them. However, almost all the bombardment of North Vietnam is done by American forces, and the final decision on their actions rests with Johnson.

Gladys shifts course after routing 64,000 in Cuba

Florida's west coast off path

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys, elbowed away from Florida's west coast by a high pressure zone to the east, churned harmlessly up the Gulf of Mexico Thursday toward a newly predicted landfall on thinly populated beaches.

A hurricane hunter pilot thrusting his plane through 90-mile-an-hour winds in the wall of the eye found that Gladys had veered westward, ending a threat that she would crash head-on into the cluster of cities around Tampa Bay.

And there was evidence that Gladys had reached the peak of her development and was weakening. A hurricane hunter going in later encountered maximum winds of 75 m.p.h.

The storm killed one person and inflicted considerable damage on Cuba. But along the lower Florida west coast, only brisk winds and showers gave evidence that Gladys was passing more than 125 miles out in the gulf.

The latest forecast said the most likely point of the storm's landfall would be near the mouth of the historic Suwannee River, where the Florida coast takes a bend to the northeast.

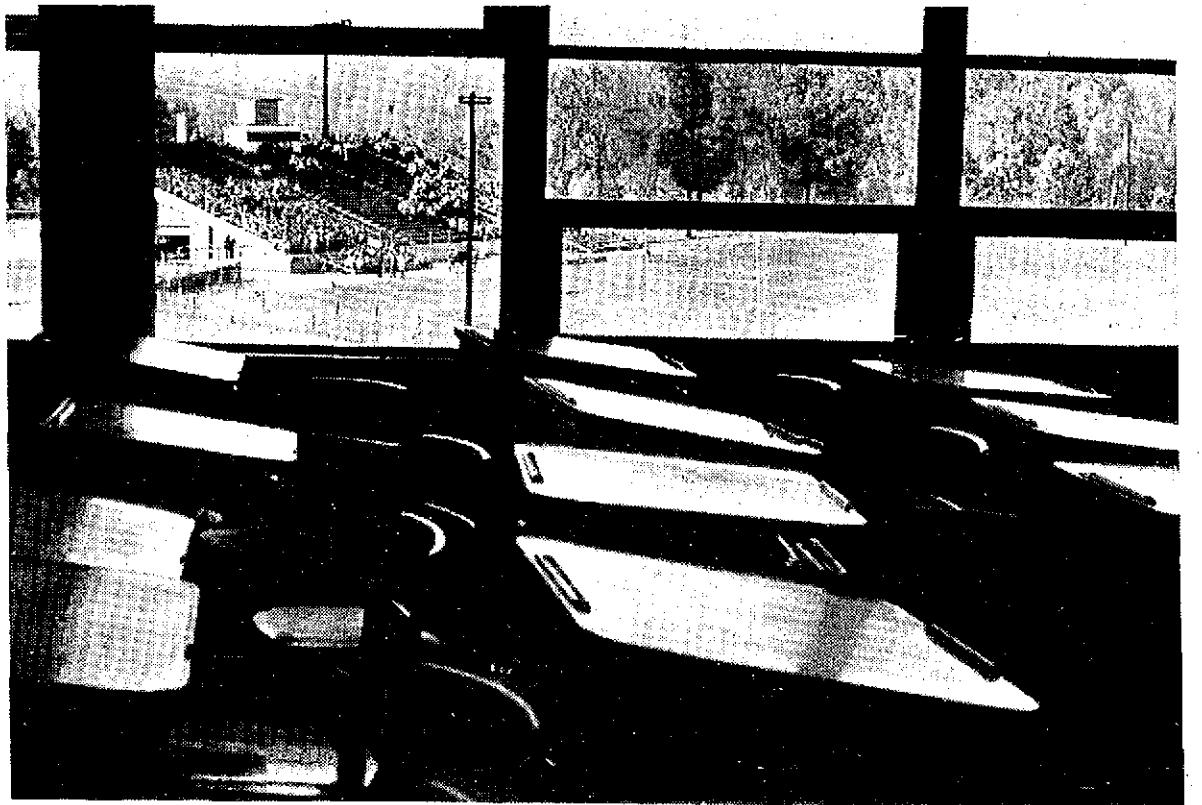

The Cuban news agency Prensa Latina said a farmer in Pinar del Rio province drowned Wednesday while trying to cross a flooding river during Gladys' crossing of the island. The Cuban government evacuated nearly 64,000 persons from areas vulnerable to the flash floods triggered by the storm.

McCarthy ruled off N.Y. ballot

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's problem-plagued New York backers won a major victory Thursday, as the state's highest court ruled U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy off the New York presidential election ballot.

Declaring that McCarthy should not have to run against his will, the Court of Appeals unanimously upset a lower-court decision that the Minnesota Democrat's name should be on the ballot Nov. 5.

The ruling brought a much-needed morale boost to Humphrey's New York State organization, which has been beset by a variety of woes. In Washington, a spokesman for the Democratic National Committee said the decision made Democratic leaders "even more confident that the vice president will carry New York."

The stark reality of Thursday's bomb scare at East Stroudsburg High School was captured by Record photographer Rod MacLeod. The school was emptied and students sent to the football stadium after a caller said a bomb was set to explode in the school.

E. Stroudsburg High School emptied after bomb scare

EAST STROUDSBURG — Students of the East Stroudsburg Junior-Senior High School were evacuated from the building for approximately one hour and fifteen minutes Thursday while a search was conducted for a bomb which was reported to be in the building.

School officials said that the high school switchboard received an anonymous telephone call at about 11 a.m. The caller hung up without saying anything.

Immediately thereafter, another call was received from someone identified only as having a young male's voice. The caller said that a bomb was in the building and it was scheduled to explode at noon.

The East Stroudsburg Police Department was immediately called and the buildings were evacuated under the direction and supervision of Mrs. Pauline Peterson, District Superintendent, and Principal Ralph Burrows.

The students were moved to the high school football stadium, while the building was being searched. While at the stadium, the students held a pep rally, according to Mrs. Peterson.

Mrs. Peterson said the evacuation, which took only about three minutes, was very orderly and quiet and that every teacher and student was most cooperative. She said she was very proud of the student body for their conduct during the evacuation procedures.

The search for the bomb was conducted by East Stroudsburg Police Officers David Edwards and Justice Howes, male faculty members and members of the janitorial staff.

Mrs. Peterson said that a very thorough search was conducted from top to bottom of the buildings including all lockers. Nothing was found.

She indicated that she felt very indignant at such a waste of taxpayers' money when teachers and students have to stand around when an educational program should be in process.

Students and faculty returned to the building at approximately 12:15 and resumed their lunch program which had been interrupted by the evacuation.

When it was suggested that the lunch periods be cut to make up for the lost time, Mrs. Peterson refused to do so, saying that the students should not be penalized in that manner.

Instead of cutting lunch periods, Mrs. Peterson cut the final period of the day off the schedule.

East Stroudsburg Police are continuing an investigation of the bomb threat.

Nixon supports bombing halt

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon offered Republican support Thursday for a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam if President Johnson takes that action.

He said it is for Johnson to determine whether stopping the bombs would enhance peace prospects without costing American lives—and if the President makes that judgment, "We will support him."

Nixon said he has no information to indicate Johnson is going to order a halt.

But Nixon left open a route to later dissent.

Fatigue overtakes Wallace

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — George C. Wallace appealed Thursday to Texas manhood and southern pride as he moved through what might well be Wallace country in his third-party quest for the presidency.

Then, admitting fatigue, he scrubbed the whole day's campaign in Missouri and Kansas and headed for home in Montgomery, Ala., for rest and some television taping.

Wallace packed some 10,000 persons into a downtown park in Fort Worth during the lunch hour for a rally attended by a relative handful of hecklers who have populated his campaign trail.

"When you vote for the American Independent party on Nov. 5," he said, "you've asserted your manhood in Texas. You've asserted your manhood in our region."

Referring—as he often has—to Richard Nixon, who charged that Wallace was unfit to be President, Wallace cried: "When they say I'm not fit, they're saying you're not fit. And the national Republican party, when they say you're not fit to be President, you know what they're saying? You're not fit to be President because you're southerner."

The Wallace organization announced that the candidate would return to Montgomery before a Sunday television interview in Washington. Newsweek asked Wallace about the switch.

"Our schedule," he joshed, "as you folks on the plane have said, has been too rigorous. All you fellows on the airplane, all the news media, said, 'slow down the pace. You're about to kill us,' so we're doing it for you. Now don't read anything into it except that we're doing it for you fellows."

Pilots fly raids during meetings

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bomber pilots had "Go" orders today for more raids against North Vietnam after a fourth U.S.-South Vietnamese meeting presumably on a suspension of the air strikes.

A U.S. military spokesman said late Thursday that there was no information indicating a stand-down in the daily air attacks south of North Vietnam's 19th Parallel.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker conferred for an hour Thursday night with President Nguyen Van Thieu in the presidential palace. Both the U.S. mission and South Vietnamese sources declined to comment on the meeting.

Bunker and Thieu also met Wednesday on what government officials said was a U.S. plan to suspend all bombing of North Vietnam in a new bid to achieve a Vietnam peace.

Informed sources said Thieu balked at signing a joint declaration proposed by Washington, apparently because he wants further concessions by Hanoi.

One high government spokesman said the South Vietnamese Cabinet met Thursday but the bombing suspension "wasn't mentioned, not even one word." Military sources said U.S. planes flew through deteriorating weather Thursday to hit supply routes, highways, bridges and vehicles in the North Vietnamese panhandle.

Any suspension of aerial bombardment south of the 19th Parallel, the limit imposed by President Johnson March 31, also would affect the operations of the 56,000-ton New Jersey.

Police academies urged in state

HARRISBURG (AP) — Regional police academies and crime laboratories may be a necessity if Pennsylvania hopes to improve the quality of criminal justice education and practice, J. Shane Creamer, executive director of the state Crime Commission, said Thursday.

Speaking at a commission

Yasunari Kawabata

Japanese wins prize for writing

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Yasunari Kawabata, a Japanese whose novel that has a tea cup as a central figure is probably best known in the West, won the 1968 Nobel Prize for literature Thursday.

The 69-year-old novelist is the first Japanese to win the Nobel literature award, and he showed pride in this fact when reporters reached him at his home in Kamakura, Japan.

Kawabata said the award showed recognition for Japanese literature. But he said he was puzzled because he was chosen from so many distinguished world authors and because Japanese literature is difficult for Westerners to understand.

The president of the Swedish Academy of Letters that gave him the $70,000 prize, Dr. Anders Osterling, said Kawabata's works have "contributed to a spiritual bridge spanning between East and West."

The literary award is the third of the five annual Nobel prizes to be announced this year. The awards for physics and chemistry will be made Oct. 30.

Three Americans won the prize for medicine and physiology Wednesday, Marshall Warren Nirenberg of the National Heart Institute, Har Gobind Khorana of the University of Wisconsin and Robert W. Holley of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. The peace prize was awarded to Prof. Rene Cassin, French worker for human rights, Oct. 9.

Many consider Kawabata's masterpiece to be "Sembazuru"—A Thousand Cranes. The central figure is a tea cup. The plot revolves around the women who used it and those they loved.

This work, along with others such as "Yukiguni" Snow Country—have been translated into English and other European languages. "Yukiguni" is a story of a romance between a rich but insensitive man of middle age and a young geisha. Kawabata regards this as his most finished work.

Kawabata is classified as a traditionalist. He was among the New Sensualists of Japan who emerged in the 1920s and 1930s to oppose violent realism as well as proletarian literature.

hearing on the status of criminal justice education in Pennsylvania, Creamer said, "It is quite possible we will be developing along regional lines."

One of the major questions, he said, is what role community colleges and four-year colleges and universities should play in setting up and operating these regional centers.

"I certainly think we should have the feeling of these college people if not their assistance in operating the academies and laboratories, Creamer said.

Creamer's suggestion came one day after he announced the division of the state into eight regions in which state and local police will coordinate their operations under a new federal aid program.

Creamer said regional offices would be staffed by state policemen and a lawyer "to serve as coordinators with local agencies."

The new system is in compliance with the Crime Control Act and the Juvenile Delinquency Act passed recently by Congress, the director said.

He did not indicate Thursday whether regional police academies would follow the same boundary lines.

Testifying at the hearing were a number of educators who outlined criminology and law enforcement programs at various colleges in the state.

First to testify was Vernon Folley, chairman of the division of police and public administration at Harrisburg Area Community College.

Folley asked the commission "not to overlook the potential of community colleges" in proposing plans for continuing education of law enforcement officials and court personnel.

"Community colleges are in a good position to provide law enforcement education," Folley said.

He cited local control of curriculum and location as two advantages of community colleges. He also referred to a national study which indicated community colleges across the country currently were offering 199 associate degree programs in law enforcement while only four 4-year colleges were offering baccalaureate programs.

Meyer Schwartz, assistant dean of the Graduate School of Social Work at the University of Pittsburgh, told the commission one possible service graduate schools could perform was manpower study.

YOUTH, 14, to receive 'big' present

PLEIKU, South Vietnam (AP) — There's a 14-month-old youngster near Lancaster waiting for a birthday present from his daddy in Vietnam.

Young Matthew Martin will get a 400-lb. elephant if his father can think of a way of sending it to the boy.

The problem started for Lt. Gary G. Martin when the chief of the 4th Infantry Division's public information office decided to do a story on the roll of elephants in Vietnam.

Lt. Martin works in the public information office, which asked the division's 2nd Brigade at Ban Me Thuot to prepare a news release and send it up.

The 2nd Brigade did better than that — it sent up an elephant.

The public information office then had the problem of what to do with a 400-lb. 3-year-old elephant.

Policeman, suspect slain in gunbattle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A policeman and a holdup suspect, free on bail in the death of another officer were killed in a blazing gunbattle in northeast Philadelphia Tuesday.

The policeman was William A. Lackman, 34, an 11-year police veteran. The slain holdup suspect was John Seeley, 31.

Police captured another man hiding in a closet at the gunfight scene, the home of a physician.

Police identified him as Adolph Schwartz, 22. After questioning him, they also picked up for questioning John McIntyre, 24, at his home.

No charges were filed against Schwartz or McIntyre.

Lackman was shot as he went to investigate a telephoned robbery call. Police said Sgt. Charles Miller, who arrived seconds after Lackman, shot Seeley as he tried to flee.

Seeley, said police, was free in $15,000 bail on a charge of killing patrolman Herman J. Dietrich, 46, as he slept in the apartment of Seeley's estranged wife, Aug. 6, 1967.

Police said holdup men accosted Dr. Frank A. Washick and his wife Ann about breakfast time Thursday announcing, "This is a holdup."

"Are you kidding?" the doctor asked.

"No, we're not kidding. This is a stickup. Get them up," said the gunmen.

Police said Dr. Washick grappled with one man and in the confusion his wife called the police. Dr. Washick was pistol whipped and later was treated for head injuries.

Frank L. Rizzo, police commissioner, was at Nazareth Hospital when Lackman died. The commissioner told Mrs. Lackman, the mother of a 6-year-old girl and who is expecting a second child, of the death.

An angered Rizzo said Seeley "probably has been given chance after chance, and look what we have now, a dead policeman."

Clark backs bombing halt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark called Thursday for a bombing halt, a cease fire and removal of all foreign troops in Vietnam.

Clark, a Democrat running for his third term in the Senate, accused his Republican opponent, U.S. Rep. Richard Schweiker, of having "nothing to offer" to settle the Vietnam war.

Wednesday Schweiker reiterated a stand he and seven other Republican Congressmen made 18 months ago. He said he was against a cessation of the bombing.

Seventh day in space

Astronauts look in Gladys' eye

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — The Apollo 7 astronauts —men not easily awed—looked into the furious vortex of Hurricane Gladys Thursday and one called it "really a doozy—I haven't seen anything like that ever."

The astronauts, in the seventh of their 11 days in space, squeezed weather reporting into their already jammed schedule and described activity in the bell-shaped capsule as looking "like squirrels in a cage."

They also described swapping their food, like school children at lunch.

On their schedule for Friday is a spectacular 57-second firing of the large spacecraft engine. It will be the most powerful engine test ever attempted by a manned spaceship and will give them a 1,200-mile-an-hour increase in speed.

As Apollo 7 streaked through the firmament over America's west coast at 17,500 miles an hour Thursday, dawn-rising Californians got a clear view.

"It was just like a big blinking star—that's all it looked like to me," said a Californian. It took the ship just two minutes to travel from horizon to horizon. Many Los Angeles people failed to take note of the spacecraft, leading one observer to comment: "I was really bugged because there we were, watching history go by and there were all these other people, walking to work and just looking at their feet."

Mrs. Donn F. Eisele, wife of one of the astronauts, was outside with their children hoping to see the dawn pass over Houston, but the capsule was not visible in the area. Making the disappointment keener, by being outside they missed the fourth day of televising from the capsule.

But the space trio later got a good view of the area south of Houston where they live.

"Clear Lake stood out like a bell," said Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., the spacecraft commander.

He described their sighting of Gladys, howling northward through the Gulf of Mexico, this way:

"That's a very spectacular view. There is a line of broken clouds around the edge of it, but it tightens up in the center. Real tight vortex. There's a few high thunderstorms about 100-150 miles out." Later he said "I haven't seen anything like that, ever."

Officials were keeping an anxious watch over the hurricane, although it was moving away from the area where the spacecraft will splash down at 7:12 a.m. EDT, next Tuesday.

Wednesday, civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham had complained about the food and Thursday, Air Force Maj. Eisele joined the fight.

"Wally and I are trying to give away our butterscotch pudding but nobody wants it," he said. "Walt likes to collect cocoa, so we can give our cocoa to him, and both of them were trying to con me out of my ham and apple sauce. Walt was offering me a whole meal for one piece. I guess we get tired of the very rich things, and we still go for the soup and salads."

Apollo moonshot decision put off

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — A top Space Agency official said Thursday a decision will not be made until mid-November whether to send the next three-man Apollo astronaut crew around the moon at Christmas.

Meanwhile, said Apollo Mission Director William C. Schneider, Apollo 8 astronauts Frank Borman, James A. Lovell Jr. and William A. Anders "are training for the complete spectrum of missions." They range from low earth orbit to a trip around the moon.

If Air Force Col. Borman, Navy Capt. Lovell and Air Force Maj. Anders are assigned an earth-orbital mission, they will aim for a target launch date in the first half of December, Schneider said in an interview.

If a decision is made to fly around the moon, however, their launch aboard a 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket can't occur before Dec. 20, when the moon moves into position as a target from Cape Kennedy launch pads.

"I will not have made up my mind until we have had a more complete analysis of data from Apollo 7," he said. "We will make up our minds in mid-November."

"Nothing has come up of any consequence that we look at with alarm," in the Apollo 7 flight of Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, the mission director said.

However, "I keep recalling Gemini 8 when we went from a bed of roses to a deep dish of yogurt in seconds," he observed. The two Gemini 8 pilots, civilian Neil Armstrong and Air Force Maj. David R. Scott, spun out of control when one of their maneuvering rockets refused to turn off. The crew was forced to make an emergency landing in the Pacific.

"If the remainder of this mission goes as it has so far," Schneider said, "we will have accomplished everything on Apollo 7 that we set out to do."

However, "It's no sure thing that we're going to do anything other than an earth-orbit" on Apollo 8, he said.

Poor flight plans are being considered for Apollo 8. The most spectacular would have the crew orbit the moon 10 times. Another would be a circular mission where the astronauts would fly about a three-quarters orbit, around the moon's backside and return to earth.

Talks continue on land code

GREENTOWN — The Greene Township Property Owners and Taxpayers Association, which was formed last June, is continuing its meetings to draft a workable subdivision ordinance suitable for the township.

The Taxpayers Association has appointed a 14-member committee to meet with supervisors & planning commission to draft the ordinance.

The committee has been meeting as often as one night per week to discuss ideas and record pertinent requirements for the ordinance, said Harold R. Clark, association president.

Regular meetings

Clark said the committee also meets each month with the property owners at the first week each month and with the township planning commission at their regular meetings on the third week of each month.

The Association Committee, Clark said, discussed their views with the planning commission on the sale of lots.

Biafran war is reviewed by Nwokorie

PEN ARGYL — Dr. I. S. Nwokorie, a professor at East Stroudsburg State College, this week told students at Pen Argyl Area High School that "The torch of independence and freedom has been lighted in Biafra and it is not going to be quenched."

Dr. Nwokorie, speaking at an assembly program, sponsored by the International Relation Club, explained the background of the conflict between Biafra and Nigeria.

He described that one Sunday, in 1966, some 30,000 Ibos were massacred and two million refugees fled from Nigeria to Biafra. The starving children, who are dying at a rate of 6,000 per day, are the orphans of that massacre.

He explained that England, Egypt and the Soviet Union are helping Nigeria.

size of lots, and building setback at a meeting held September 20 in the Newfoundland Elementary School.

Clark said it is the intent of the property owners committee to draft subdivision regulations for Greene Township that "will not incur excessive hardships and expenses onto those owners who might wish to sell lots; will not promote overdevelopment of the township; will maintain the natural beauty and open spaces which are characteristic of the township."

Retain rights

"Will provide for private development, allowing property owner to develop as he chooses, so long as such development is maintained privately; will not open avenues for appointed positions, higher taxes, and land squeeze deals; will promote orderly development and insured the health, safety and welfare of the people without unwarranted stringent requirements and big deal ideas," Clark said.

Clark said the subdivision ordinance should tend to allow proper development as well as preserve the natural rural aspect and beauty of Greene Township.

The next scheduled meeting of the association will be 8 p.m. November 2 in the Newfoundland American Legion Hall.

Press search for escapee

EASTON — Juvenile authorities in Easton Wednesday night said the 14-year-old youth who bolted from the juvenile center remains at large.

The youth escaped by diving through a door in the kitchen. He entered the kitchen area from the reading room.

The boy was first committed in June and escaped from Youth Development Center, Cornwells Heights Oct. 2. He was picked up and was being detained in the Easton center when he made his second flight to freedom.

FHA calls Dr. Elias near defiant in correcting housing conditions

By DAVID B. OTTAWAY
Record Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The Federal Housing Administration has told Rep. Fred B. Rooney that Dr. Gabriel Elias, owner of the Tobyhanna Housing Project, has been "usually indifferent and sometimes defiant" in his attitude toward the conditions of apartments in the Village.

FHA officials, Rooney was told, have held "numerous conferences" with Elias about improving conditions at the Village and have even threatened to defer his payments on the mortgage "so that a greater portion of the income could be earmarked for needed repairs and replacements."

Rooney last week forwarded to the Housing Administration a four-page list of grievances signed by 62 residents of the Village and asked for an investigation of the situation.

In his reply to Rooney's letter, P. N. Brownstein, assistant secretary-commissioner of the Administration, admitted that efforts to "encourage" Elias to upgrade the premises had so far been "of no avail."

Repairs planned

However, Brownstein went on to say that Elias had advised the FHA on August 20 that "many of the deficiencies" would be corrected during 1969 and the remainder next year.

Brownstein revealed that FHA officials from Philadelphia had met with members of his staff at the Pentagon Oct. 7 to explore ways and means to expedite the repair program. Also attending that meeting was the commanding officer of the Tobyhanna Army Depot.

In his letter to Rooney, dated Oct. 15, Brownstein said that the deficiencies cited by the Tobyhanna Village residents in their four-page petition "are not to be minimized," but he added that "there is serious doubt whether they constitute waste."

The term "waste" means deficiencies so major that they would constitute undue hardship on the lender to make the necessary repairs. If there were "waste," the FHA would be in a position to take action to force repairs, possibly through the forfeiture of the money, Elias has put aside in what is known as the "replacement reserve."

"Consequently," Brownstein told Rooney, "resort to legal action at this time is not considered advisable since the mortgage is not in monetary default."

Brownstein gave this review of the Tobyhanna Village Project:

The project was developed some 15 years ago to provide rental accommodations for families of civilian and military personnel employed at the Tobyhanna Army Depot.

The Army was given the option to take over the project when enabling legislation was passed in 1955. However, it did not choose to do so.

In 1964, the property was sold to Elias, who took the leasehold in the name of his mother, Mrs. Bella Angel.

The sales price was $436,300, with a cash payment of $36,300 and with the FHA taking a five and one-quarter per cent note for the balance secured by a 39-year mortgage.

The title to the land on which the project is located is vested in the Department of the Army.

Charge investigated
Meanwhile, another FHA official here has checked into administration files regarding an allegation made by Edwin Krawitz of Stroudsburg that he had initially won the bidding on the contract for the housing project.

Krawitz has alleged that he received a telegram from the FHA notifying him that he was top bidder.

The FHA official here said there was no record of such a telegram. He said there was a copy of a letter sent to Krawitz on Aug. 6, 1964, notifying him that his bid had been declined and that Elias had won the bidding.

Krawitz bid $430,125 and Elias $436,300.

The FHA also has a letter Krawitz sent Aug. 24 in which he officially protested the awarding of the contract to Elias "in as much as from evidence that we have gathered there appears to be a discrepancy as to dates and time of arrival of the bids."

The FHA replied to Krawitz's letter on Aug. 31, stating the following:

"So far as our records are concerned there is no evidence of any discrepancy. We ask that you promptly submit the evidence upon which you make your allegation."

The Housing Administration has no record of any reply by Krawitz to their Aug. 31 letter.

Vietnam casualty's rites set

DINGMANS FERRY — Funeral services for Lance Cpl. Pierce J. Malmquist, 19, of Dingmans Ferry, who was killed in Vietnam October 8, will be held 10:30 a.m. Saturday in St. Patrick's Church, Milford.

A three-year resident of Dingmans Ferry, Malmquist was killed in action in Quang Nam Province.

He was born in New York, N.Y., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Malmquist, and graduated from St. Patrick's Preparatory School in 1966. He enlisted in the Marine Corps August, 1966.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Malmquist, Flushing, N.Y.; two sisters, Valerie and Elaine; three brothers, Michael, Kris and Eugene, all at home; several aunts and uncles.

Burial will be in the Milford Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Stroyan and Orellin Funeral Home, Milford, from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Mt. Bethel man receives FFA degree

MT. BETHEL — Paul F. Smith, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Smith of Mt. Bethel, was awarded the American Farmer Degree by the national Future Farmers of America (FFA).

The degree is the highest honor bestowed to an FFA member. Smith was named for the honor during the national convention in Kansas City, Mo. Wednesday.

A 1965 graduate of Bangor Area Joint High School, Smith was among a group of young farmers who toured European farming operations.

Smith is married to the former Cynthia Docking of Bangor.

Treat night set

New conference, director, at TAD

TOBYHANNA — A new director has been named at the Tobyhanna Army Depot and a new conference with electronics experts from across the nation will meet at the Depot next week.

Lt. Col. James W. Hatcher, 42, an officer just returned from duty in Vietnam, is the Depot's new director of Joint Container Control Agency, a national activity based here.

Mason Linn of Mt. Pocono, deputy director of Supply and Transportation, is coordinating the three-day Fourth Electronics Command Supply and Maintenance conference which begins Wednesday.

Some 50 military and civilian officials are expected to attend the session. Chief purpose of the meeting is to improve techniques in the supply of electronics equipment to the Armed Forces.

A dinner for the conferees and their wives will be held at the post officers' club Thursday.

Director's task

Lt. Col. Hatcher, as director of the Joint Container Control Agency, will direct and control the world-wide movement of some 200,000 steel transport containers and several hundred seavans for the Armed and Air Force.

A native of Springhill, Tenn., Hatcher will reside in Pocono Summit with his wife and two children.

A veteran of more than 22 years military service, he entered the Army as an enlisted man during World War II and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1951.

In Vietnam, he served as operations officer of the 5th Transportation Command. Previous overseas assignments took him to Japan, Korea and Europe.

DV students take air tour

MILFORD — Eighty students from the Pennsylvania History and Earth Science Classes of Delaware Valley High School took a Conservation Air Tour recently.

The group traveled to Cherry Ridge Airport, Honesdale, boarded planes and toured areas of Wayne and Pike Counties.

The trip was arranged by Ronald McMaster, educational media director of the school.

Pasquerilla for treasurer

Frank J. Pasquerilla is a living example of success through hard work and dedication and is highly qualified to fill the office of state treasurer during the next four years.

Pasquerilla, a Republican, is the son of a disabled coal miner. He has displayed outstanding progress from poverty to the presidency of a large and successful corporation at the age of 42.

The Johnstown businessman today owns Crown Construction Co., the 57th largest building company in the United States. It will do approximately $27.6 million in business during the coming year.

Pasquerilla joined Crown in 1951 as a payroll clerk and junior engineer and has advanced through the ranks to his current position.

Our endorsement for Pasquerilla stems from his business experience, civic accomplishments, fund raising campaigns and his outstanding service to the Johnstown area, where he is a native.

The University of Pittsburgh graduate also served as co-chairman of the Local Government Committee during the Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention last year and during this government reform attracted national attention with the intelligence and vigor by which he attacked the local government reform in Pennsylvania.

Pasquerilla is a dynamic personality, who apparently gives his full self to every venture in which he takes part. His knowledge of sound business and people clearly qualify him for the office of state treasurer.

Opposing Pasquerilla for the office that pays a salary of $32,000 per year are Democrat Grace M. Sloan, who is currently Auditor General; Bart J. Amendola of the Constitutional party; Herman A. Johanson, Socialist Labor; and Richard S. Lesnik, Militant Workers.

Mink experiment

A mink in every closet may sound like the promise of a windy politician, but it may someday become a reality.

If someday a mink coat hangs majestically in each of our closets, we may have Penn State University to thank for the accomplishment.

Penn State is currently in the midst of a project that may someday lower the cost of the coveted fur. Experimental buildings and pens are now being built on the university's farms to shelter research in mink physiology, nutrition and environmental factors.

The Pennsylvania Fur Breeders Assn. is also figuring in the experiment and will donate 100 bred females to the project. The association is a cooperative with more than 185 members and includes the state's major mink ranchers.

High on the list of the project's priorities will be the feeding process, which costs Pennsylvania mink ranchers $2.7 million yearly — which isn't hay. Actually it's poultry by-products, fish and meat scraps.

Penn State also plans to experiment with tranquilizers, as minks are fierce and litters must be separated at an early age — thus necessitating a great number of cages. Actually, a peaceful mink would greatly reduce the cost of becoming part of a coat, stole or muff. After all, it takes between 40 and 60 pelts to make a coat.

No doubt Penn State will also enter into the study of making money from mink breeding in other ways. Why, even now, mink manure sells for above the fertilizer scale and is used by Park Ave. matrons to assist the growth of their potted plants.

All we have to do now is wait for the experiment to become successful. While waiting, husbands may find the tranquilizers helpful, as food for one mink pelt still costs seven dollars and the pelt may sell for $18 and up.

However, the future may be brighter — and cheaper.

Congressional quiz

Electoral College

By Congressional Quarterly

A presidential election year usually stimulates suggestions for the reform of the U.S. election system. And a campaign such as this year's, when a third party is prominent, stimulates more questions than usual about the system and about the electoral college in particular. This quiz tests your knowledge of the electoral college.

1. True or false: The electoral college is provided for in the Constitution.
2. Electors are allotted to the states according to each state's (a) population; (b) number of Congressmen and Senators; (c) number of counties.
3. True or false: Since 1830, electors have usually been elected by a general ticket or unit system so that the elector slate of the party winning a plurality of statewide votes is chosen.

4. Electors are usually nominated by (a) state conventions or state political committees; (b) primary elections; (c) the Presidential candidates of the major parties.

5. Electors are (a) bound by law in all 50 states to vote for their party's candidate; (b) in practice usually consider themselves bound to the candidate on whose party ticket they were elected; (c) generally consider themselves unpledged.

ANSWERS: 1. true; 2. (b); 3. true; 4. (a); 5. (b).

Wallace plans to aid local police with federal funds

By MARY C. BERRY
Record Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — "My family had five stores burned down," said the retired admiral over his fruit cup. "And the police stood by and did nothing. And then afterwards they were congratulated for it."

The admiral was a guest at a luncheon in a Washington hotel at which retired Air Force General Curtis LeMay spoke just before he left for Vietnam. The admiral was explaining his conversion to George Wallace.

After speaking a week before at the National Press Club, Wallace met with about 20 men, all retired military officers from the Washington area. "I was one of them," said the admiral. "And that man really makes sense."

Wallace, continued the admiral, planned to give federal money to the local police forces so they could strengthen themselves. He was asked where the money would come from.

Worthless programs?

"Well," said the admiral, "it's a matter of taking money away from some of those worthless programs."

After the chocolate pudding and coffee, candidate LeMay talked about a variety of things, including demonstrators.

"I've asked several of the police chiefs why they allowed this to happen, why they didn't arrest these lawbreakers at least for disturbing the peace. And they told me that it was useless to try. They said that they pick up these people, take them to the station and, before they can finish writing up the arrest report, an attorney shows up, quotes a few rules laid down by the Supreme Court and they are out scot-free. And so they say, 'What's the use?'"

Once upon a time

Bob Considine

LeMay passed by

NEW YORK — Gen. Curt LeMay said the best way to win the war in Vietnam is to knock out the ability of the enemy to fight, after giving due warning to the people in those productive areas to get out of the way.

He would, for example, shatter Haiphong, the port which Ho Chi Minh receives most of the goods (and bads) with which he continues to fight. Gen. LeMay would, in addition, knock off Hanoi if the capital of North Vietnam was (as it may be) a strategic target. Also, after a leaflet warning to the Hanoiites.

If LeMay had said that 25 years ago he would have been applauded. As a matter of fact, he did — and carried out, or was permitted to carry out, his plans.

But times change, and so do men's assessments of what is a victory. Today, LeMay is widely considered a caricature of some sort, a voice from the grave of American history. His own high school in Ohio took down his enshrined picture when he tied up with George Wallace. Some of his best air force friends pleaded with him not to accept the offer.

May never return

Actually, LeMay is a spokesman of a period in United States history which may never return: the age in which we would settle for nothing short of victory in any war we entered. That age ended, apparently, at the little red schoolhouse in Rhineland on the deck of the U.S.S. Missouri. In each case completely unconditional surrender was demanded and accepted.

Now we have something else, and history cannot yet tell us whether it is as good or as bad as the dictum of unconditional surrender.

During the 1952 campaign, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said something that none of today's presidential candidates has quite said. He said that, if elected, he would "go to Korea." What he was also promising the American people was that he would wrap up an ugly and unpopular war there.

This he did within six months.

North Korea convinced

But it wasn't the kind of wrap-up he achieved in Europe nor did he hope it would be. The North Korean soldier of today, 15 years later, grew to manhood convinced — through his schoolbooks — that his older brother or his father held the heavyweight champion of the world, us, to at least a draw.

Indeed, those books say that the brave North Koreans chased hundreds of thousands of American all the way from the Yalu River to below Seoul, and the fleeing Americans were led by the great Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Today's German, Japanese and Italian boys have no such illusions.

So this is basically why North Korea can capture a ship like the Pueblo, imprison its crew, make them say odd things, and defy us to do something about it. We have no plans of doing anything truculent about the crew, and couldn't care less about the ship. We just hope that through some kind of negotiation — perhaps an exchange of prisoners — we can get the men back.

When the new president comes in, there may be some kind of accommodation, as there was when Khrushchev sent back the two RB-47 pilots to the recently elected John F. Kennedy, or when we gave up the master spy, Abel, for U-2 pilot Powers, which was like trading Lou Brock for a bat boy.

LeMay is a good man. Few men have given as much of themselves to the service of this country as has this tough, wary guy. During a considerable number of years, the Russian leaders thought of him — personally — as the number one deterrent to their dreams of further empire.

But the times have passed him by as surely as they passed MacArthur. The text of the manuals they read, and believed in, have been rewritten. A truce, however shaky, is now considered preferable to the further spilling of blood. Unconditional surrender is a term, a manifesto, in which the Dodo bird wraps itself before going to roost each night in bird heaven.

We still have 50,000 men in South Korea today, more than 15 years after the last official shot was triggered in anger. We've been the cops in some of the NATO countries for nearly a quarter of a century. President Park of South Korea wants us to stay there in force until at least 1975.

We'll show the uniform and the flag in South Vietnam until, certainly, the year 2000.

Which is not so far away — except in the conclusive minds and hearts of old fashioned Americans. Curt LeMay, for example.

Stories Behind Words

By William Penfield

Corny

Before the days of radio, television and motion pictures — when the masses of the United States had not been exposed to regular doses of subtle play-acting and wit-dramatic and vaudeville actors described audiences in places other than large, metropolitan centers as "corn fed."

The actors learned that subtle humor generally was lost on such an audience, but that a broad, simple joke, was received very well.

Such broad, simple humor, therefore, came to be described as "corn fed," the name originally applied to the audiences. "Corn fed" eventually was shortened to "corny."

Neither Fish, Flesh, Nor

The English expression "neither fish, flesh, nor good red herring" means not suitable to any class of people.

The original phrase probably was "neither flesh nor fish," and the "good red herring" was added for emphasis. The expression arose about the time that King Henry VIII broke with the Catholic Church.

Election corn

"So Humphrey wants to debate — Now why would he want 'de-bait,' When he already has a Muskie?"

FRANK S. FULLER
Stroudsburg

LeMay looked over his heavy black-rimmed glasses and departed briefly from his text.

"Ask any policeman."

"It was awful," said the grey-haired woman in the black suit. She was a friend of the LeMays and frequently smiled up at Mrs. LeMay who was seated at the head table just above her. "When I saw all those white bodies of young men protecting a deserter from the police, I was disgusted."

Boston incident

She was talking about an incident in Boston when a young draftee who refused to serve was surrounded by students who hoped to protect him from the arresting officers.

"I think it's time we took these people seriously," said LeMay after lunch. "If they want to be revolutionaries, so be it. But then, let them be treated as revolutionaries, not coddled as though they were merely idealistic dissenters."

The vice presidential candidate of the American Independent Party was asked about his party's platform which demands an end to "minority appeasement." Which minorities, asked the questioner.

"All minorities," replied the candidate.

The majority ought to rule, he said. He didn't mind a minority trying to educate the majority to their views but, if they failed, they must abide by the decision of the majority.

"And now they're not doing it," said LeMay, "they're burning the place down."

"I've got my ticket," said a taxicab driver in an Afro haircut and a brilliantly-colored shirt when he learned that the men outside the hotel were waiting for LeMay. "This is a beautiful country but I got my ticket. Some things are too much."

Adjusting to realities

THY DAUGHTER'S NAKEDNESS. By Myron S. Kauffmann. Lippincott, $8.95.

The postgraduate life and awakening of Millicent Gordon, the awfully bright daughter of a rabbi, unfolds in the 700 pages of Myron Kauffmann's second novel. Like "Remember Me to God," his first, it explores aspects of the Jewish consciousness in contemporary America.

For the Gordons, all of them, are strongly conditioned by their religion, even when they turn away from it. This doesn't make Millicent's path easier, but it's a quiet fact of her life, even as it is the dominating one in that of her father's.

Millicent, in the immemorial manner of the young, has a good many problems: Creative self-fulfillment and sex — and for a long time, the two seem to be in tremulous opposition. Millicent returns from college, as the book opens, and she's unscathed, idealistic, naive. And very prim and puritanical.

Her development, through a prolonged affair with a young doctor named Leslie Hollander, is the main theme of the book. The other major theme is her father, grappling with his faith, his congregation (which he loses) and his own uncompromising code.

Millicent is a curious creature — Kauffmann has a touch with heroines — but the fact that her scruples and attitudes seem faintly anachronistic compared with those of her sisters today does not detract from the psychological realization of the character.

Through it all, Kauffmann weaves the lush strands of Jewish family life, deploying his large cast of characters with narrative skill. As in "Remember Me to God," he is notably felicitous with minor roles, and the climactic episode of the non-wedding of Millicent and Dr. Hollander — final stage in her education — is both amusing and moving.

Mencken's opinions mattered

THE CONSTANT CIRCLE. By Sara Mayfield. Delacorte, $6.50.

This is an uproarious, shrewd and enlightened chronicle of life as viewed by H. L. Mencken and his circle of friends, written by a junior but cherished member. The Baltimore literary hatchet man himself would give it thumping approval.

Miss Mayfield by chance brought about the meeting of Mencken and his future wife Sara Haardt, who was Miss Mayfield's English instructor at Goucher.

It took Sara Haardt seven frequently uneasy years to catch the Bad Boy of Baltimore and turn him into one of the most devoted Benedict of literary history. Actually, as many have suspected and Miss Mayfield knows, he was exceptionally sensitive and affectionate where his friends and family were concerned. In Miss Mayfield's account, the air of tragedy hung over his marriage from the first since he knew, although his wife did not, that she had only a few years to live.

But this is no mere sentimentalizing of the career of America's most uncompromising and ferocious literary critic. Miss Mayfield's own critical perception is admirable for pointing out the significance of Mencken's enthusiastic endorsements and denunciations. Many of the foremost writers of his time — Theodore Dreiser, Sinclair Lewis, James Branch Cabell, Joseph Hergesheimer, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Willa Cather, to name just a few — probably would have had far different careers, had not the Maryland Sage been at hand to encourage them when he thought they deserved it and thwack them when he was sure that it was warranted.

Miss Mayfield has caught just the right ingredient of Mencken's pungent idiom without losing her own. The result is like adding a fourth if more detached volume to Mencken's own hilarious autobiography.

'Offhand' novel solid

THE PUBLIC IMAGE. By Muriel Spark. Knopf, $4.50.

This new novel by Muriel Spark ("The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie") is short, 144 pages, and can be read very easily and fast, but that fact is deceptive—in the nicest way for novel readers—because it packs in more style, characterization and depicting of a strata of life than more authors can do in a book twice as long.

The style seems oblique and offhand; a reader always is surprised to have piled up much solid knowledge from it. In this novel, the reader learns a lot about the movie business, the way Italian newspapers and magazines report on film people and even about the reactions of Italian readers.

But most remarkable in Miss Spark's writing is her characterization. The protagonist here, Annabel Christopher, is logical but not predictable. Long before the end of the 144 pages we have a personality which we "know," but which is complex enough so that we can't predict responses—even though they seem consistent after we know them. (Lots of responses occur; a film star doesn't just drift along.)

A woman reader finds herself pulling for Annabel to react a certain way. But that's really as ridiculous as trying to outguess her. It's her personality and her public image.

Allen - Goldsmith Report

Jersey big weapon

John A. Goldsmith

WASHINGTON — The battleship New Jersey, on station in waters of Vietnam, has been dropping a devastatingly accurate rain of gunfire on Communist installations in the DMZ.

That is the substance of action reports reaching the Pentagon. The initial combat reports add up to quite a testimonial for the 26-year-old battleship which was taken from mothballs for the Vietnam fire support mission.

Most of the New Jersey's bombardment to date has been directed from Marine spotter planes. Targets have included storage areas, bunkers and gun emplacements, dug into rocky hillsides, which have resisted repeated attack by aircraft.

Reports reaching the Pentagon include eyewitness accounts by Marine pilots who describe such targets being obliterated by the second or third salvo from the New Jersey's 16-inch guns.

Against targets on or just below the ground the New Jersey lobbs high-explosive projectiles which weigh a little less than a ton. Armor-piercing projectiles, weighing 2,700 pounds, can be used to penetrate deeply, even into reinforced concrete.

The New Jersey reported for Vietnam duty at the end of September. Initial press reports described the big ship as firing at targets nine to 12 miles inland from a patrol position more than three miles off the coast.

cruising the shallow waters just off the coast, the 20-mile range of the ship's 16-inch guns allows them to reach targets well inland.

A couple of patrol planes have reportedly been lost while spotting for the New Jersey and other fire support ships — testimony to the reinforced Communist anti-aircraft in that target area.

Another phase of DMZ defenses, presently under close Pentagon scrutiny, is the infiltration barrier called "McNamara's Wall" because it was a pet project of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Not a wall at all, the barrier, or obstacle fence, uses sophisticated electronic listening and sensing devices in an anti-infiltration system. The high cost of the system, never disclosed, and its manpower requirements, have made it a subject of Pentagon controversy.

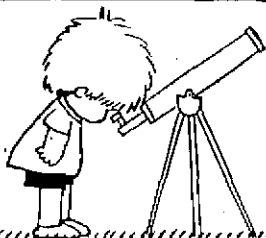

A top-brass task-force, including scientists and military experts, was sent to Vietnam, under the direction of retired Adm. George L. Russell, to study the effectiveness of the barrier system and make recommendations on how — and whether — it should be improved.

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford sent the study committee to examine the barrier system this summer in the hope of quieting the controversy which had reached into the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The chiefs do not agree on the effectiveness of the barrier.

Mr. Courtesy of 305

My son had his hair cut and was named Mr. Courtesy of Room 305 on the same day. It was almost more than he could bear.

The hair was my doing. I insisted upon it after he got his bangs caught in his zipper. (He said he could still see, but his sweaters looked funny.) Then too, he had started to develop this affliction. Whenever someone called his name, he would jerk his head in a quick circular motion and for a brief second his bangs would flop back exposing one eyeball to let us know he was alive and well.

The Mr. Courtesy stigma occurred at school. I noticed something different when he walked in the door. He was wearing a crown with a gold star on it. "Don't tell me," I said. "You're pushing margarine."

"I told the kids you'd notice," he grumbled.

"What is it for?"

"I'm Mr. Courtesy of Room 305."

"I think that's nice. What do you have to do to be crowned Mr. Courtesy?"

"Not play in the boys' room."

Soil-water group to plan

STROUDSBURG — A meeting of the Monroe County Soil and Water Conservation District will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Soil Conservation Office, North Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

"You mean some children do?"

"They all do. Only me. I'm the last one in line and I never get time."

"There must be other reasons for your being named Mr. Courtesy."

"Not one of my eight Crayolas is broken," he snapped.

"That's wonderful."

"It's not wonderful. I lost them the week after school started and just found them today back in the corner of my desk."

"Were you elected or named to the post of Mr. Courtesy?"

"Elected," he said dryly. "It was the loud vote that did it. (Translation: girls.)"

"They all lied about me. One said I never talked while the teacher talked and I do too. Once when she was reading out loud to us I even rubbed my gym shoes together so they squeaked. It like to drove her crazy. They didn't tell about that. Or about the time I used an apple core for a bookmark or ran my fingernail across the blackboard. I'm as rotten as the next guy."

Seeing him sit there, his head bowed in dejection, his shoulders bent in defeat, his eyes doing whatever they do under all that hair, I couldn't help but feel pity for Mr. Courtesy. It was a pretty rotten title to live down. I had to cheer him up. "Your hair looks positively awful," I said.

His head jerked and his bangs flipped back. I could see he was smiling. A boy who walks around looking like a Girl Scout can't be all good!

Ann Landers

The flower-children

Dear Ann Landers: I am only 15 and haven't formed solid ideas about a lot of things. One thing I am undecided about is the hippies.

It seems to me they stand for love and peace. Is that bad? In these times when there is so much hate and killing and anger—isn't love a good thing to talk up? What's bad about people handing each other flowers?

Why are some people against hippies? Maybe the hippies are the answer to the world's problems. I don't think I've ever seen anything about hippies in your column. Please tell me what you think about them.

WILLING TO LEARN

Dear Willing: I'm for peace and love, and I like flowers as well as the next person, but I also believe in work, soap

Pocono Mt. school menus released

SWIFTWATER — Menus for the Pocono Mountain School District has been announced for the period starting Tuesday, Oct. 22 and ending Friday, Nov. 1, as follows:

Tuesday — Spaghetti with meat sauce, cheese sticks, tossed salad, sliced peaches, bread, butter and milk.

Wednesday — Tuna salad sandwich, macaroni and cheese, buttered peas, orange jello with whipped cream and milk.

Thursday — Hot dog, roll, mashed browns, sauerkraut, pudding and milk.

Friday — Beef with gravy, mashed potatoes, applesauce, oatmeal cookies, muffin, butter and milk.

Monday — Fruit juice, hamburger on roll, buttered noodles, mixed vegetables, raisin crisp and milk.

Tuesday — Ham cubes, boiled potatoes, green string beans, fruited jello with whipped cream, corn bread, butter and milk.

Wednesday — Vegetable beef soup, egg salad sandwich, french fries, pears and milk.

Thursday — Chicken croquettes with gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, fruit pudding, biscuit, butter, milk.

Friday — Steak sandwich on roll, roast potatoes, buttered beets, raisin cookies and milk.

and water, reality and doing something constructive to make this a better world. Lying in the grass in groups, shunning employment, smoking pot and freaking out, solves no problems.

The hippies have nothing to offer but criticism. They are cop-outs and moochers. What they call love is often a temporary feeling of euphoria produced by drugs. At the beginning of the hippie movement many sincere people were impressed with their idealism and applauded their protest against the ugliness of the world. But as time passed, it became clear that the true idealists were grossly outnumbered by the phonies, the hop heads and the cowards who flocked to the scene.

Dear Ann Landers: In July of last year, our church organist began to put on weight. Two months later she quit her job, left town and the word got around that she had given birth to a child.

This woman is no teen-ager. She is nearly 30 and old enough to know better than to get into a jam like that. She gave the baby away like it was a cat or a dog.

Now the grand lady of the manor has returned to the city thin as a rail and her hair is a different color. She smiles a lot and acts as if she has had a six-month vacation in Switzerland. Everyone is supposed to accept her, ask no questions and play dumb.

Why should she get away with such immoral behavior? Now it is the townspeople who are on trial. It suddenly becomes our responsibility to be gracious and overlook everything.

Don't tell me to mind my own business. This person happens to be my cousin and therefore what she does is my business. Do you have an answer?

SUNFLOWER

DEAR SUN: What would you like the woman to do — wear a scarlet letter and hold a question-and-answer forum in the main lobby of the Post Office every morning between 10:00 a.m. and noon?

Instead of giving her credit for holding her head up, you seem annoyed that her unfortunate experience didn't crush her spirit and wreck her life. People like you give me indigestion.

Confidential to Thumbs Up Or Down: I'd say thumbs sideways on this one. Legally you can do it — but morally and taste-wise you'd be a rotten egg.

Judge sees tide turning in county delinquency

STROUDSBURG — Reversing the national trend, Monroe County has a chance to show what Judge Arlington W. Williams termed "a substantial decrease" in juvenile delinquency this year.

Guest speaker at the fall meeting of the Hospital Auxiliaries of Northeastern Pennsylvania with 250 delegates at Pocono Manor this week, Judge Williams was interrupted several times by spontaneous applause from his audience.

"Since August we have not had a single commitment or request for commitment of a juvenile in the county," he said as a preliminary to a talk which hit hard at parental responsibility and citizen support for adequate probation provision.

Termining the problem of finding new ways to restore order, justice and obedience to the law "the most vital social question of our time," Judge Williams, president judge of the courts of Monroe and Pike County, cited the 88 per cent increase in crime over the past few years, much of it involving young people.

He discussed the three major reasons given for this increase, emphasizing the role of permissive society.

Lopsided character
"Parents who bring up their children without restraints or restrictions leave them unable to accept responsibility or authority," he said. "I have been appalled at the little religious training or sense of morality, the young people coming before me have had."

"Parents will bend every effort to give their child social advantages, physical opportunities and on schools to train the child's mind, but neglect the spiritual aspects. The result is a lopsided person who has failed to acquire a comprehension of right and wrong."

The leniency of the court, particularly of recent Supreme Court decisions uprooting landmarks of many years, he cited as the second reason, pointing out that the appellate courts are bound by these decisions.

"It is with a heavy heart that I see persons escape the taint of guilt through procedural loopholes for crimes which in the opinion of the court, there is not the slightest doubt they committed," he said.

The third reason generally given he said, is the liberal contention that the society must be reconstructed through social programs eliminating poverty, discrimination and inequality.

"No humanitarian can quarrel with those aims," he said, "but don't count on them to eliminate juvenile delinquency. Many of the young people coming before me have had every opportunity in life. Some of those who engaged in a series of crimes have been victims not of poverty but of over-affluence, of too much parental emphasis on their own wishes and pleasures."

Wholesome parents
"If you want a wholesome society, you must be wholesome parents. You must sacrifice some of your own pursuit of pleasure to take time to train your children in real values," he charged to applause.

Society also must insist that juvenile judges be given adequate time and the probation departments adequate personnel if the rehabilitation of these young offenders is to work, he said.

"The national average of the time which a juvenile judge gives to each case is 15 minutes," he charged. "The fact that on the local level each case is given adequate time for consideration can only be achieved through hours of work which any labor union would deem unfair labor practice," he said.

Without adequate probation facilities, a boy must be sent back to the same environment which produced the tendency to crime in the first place, he said, citing statistics where almost 80 per cent return to court as second or third offenders within five years.

In considering juvenile crimes of considerable magnitude, the judge must balance his primary obligation to protect the safety of his community with his obligation to protect the individual rights of the offender, he said.

He must also consider whether leniency in one case may stimulate and incite other young people to do the same things with impunity, he added.

Community safety
"When elderly people are afraid to stay in their own homes because of the nightly vandalism of young people, I confess that the interests of public safety must outweigh individual freedom," he said to another spontaneous burst of applause.

The flood of criticism in telephone calls and letters which follows the announcement of the disposition of any juvenile case he termed an "occupational hazard" which cannot influence a decision made in good conscience.

"The rewarding aspect," he said, "is the evidence that we are beginning to progress in this county and signs of a decreasing problem which if they continue may give us a 25 to 30 per cent decrease in juvenile delinquency here in one year."

Judge Williams' talk was given at the luncheon which followed the morning business meeting conducted by Mrs. Gerald Hardiman, president of the region.

Among the new officers elected were Mrs. James Gallagher of Wilkes-Barre as the new president and Mrs. Seldon Ponder of Stroudsburg, as the new president-elect.

Mrs. Maxwell Cohen, president of the host Auxiliary of the General Hospital of Monroe County, welcomed the group. Mrs. Rolf Olofsson and Mrs. Howard Kelper Jr. were co-chairmen of the luncheon; Mrs. Marion D. Chiappa of registration and Mrs. Ponder of hostesses.

Reports of individual auxiliaries were given at the morning meeting, with the local auxiliary report among the most outstanding.

Mrs. Gallagher, new president, introduced her staff of officers.

Judge Williams was introduced by Charles Swisher, administrator of the Monroe County hospital. Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Norman Savage, hospital chaplain.

New uniforms for ES Band projected by Band Mothers

EAST STROUDSBURG — New uniforms for the whole East Stroudsburg High School band is a project facing the East Stroudsburg Band Mothers, announced at their October meeting at the school.

Mrs. Beulah Merring, president, and John Casagrande, band director, will name committees to arrange for the purchase.

Arlington mascot in kindergarten

STROUDSBURG — New officers presiding at the meeting of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teachers Assn. were Joseph T. LeBar, president; Cecelia Finney, vice president; Kay Everett, recording secretary; Janet Winters, corresponding secretary, and Jean Heller, treasurer.

The stuffed dog, which will serve as this year's mascot, was put in the custody of the kindergarten who had the most parents present for the meeting. A student contest will be held to name the dog.

Refreshment hostesses were Rita Johnson, Lois Entwistle, Tandy Vanderbent and Brenda Ruck.

The activities of the band were announced by Casagrande at the meeting.

At the district band tryouts at Clark Summit on Oct. 13, 26 members of the local band out of the 28 participating made the band.

The band will play for the East Stroudsburg Post Office dedication on Oct. 19; and the brass ensemble will play for Teachers In-Service Day on Oct. 21; and the whole band for the Halloween parade on Oct. 30.

The band played for the Fireman's parade on Oct. 7 and is playing at all football games.

The band mothers completed plans for the Hoagie Day on Oct. 21. Ruth Ann Smith and Peggy Thran were named to the December afghan project with tickets available from any band mother.

The band mothers also have Christmas candy available in many varieties. A hodge-podge party was discussed for January.

Costumes tonight

EFFORT — Wear a costume or pay a fine, those were the instructions for members of St. John's Lutheran Aux. for the meeting to be held tonight at 8 in the social room of St. John's Lutheran Church, Effort.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

As Rosemary Olofsson pointed out to the 250 women attending the district hospital auxiliary meeting at the Manor, nature had done most of the committee's decorating for them.

The leaves were really at their height and the sun being out really turned them into really dazzling displays. Every fall I think that certainly they have never been this splendid. It's hard to remember glory.

However, the committee had also done a good job of decorating with the table decorations being given to the person with a number under her saucer. Nancy Hopkins, one of the hostesses, had the embarrassing experience of finding a number under her own saucer which she hastily passed over to the woman on her left.

The hostesses themselves were pretty decorative since

Deanery meeting

SHOHOLA — All Catholic women in the area are invited to the Fall meeting of the Monroe-Pike Deanery, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women to be held Sunday Oct. 20 at St. Ann's Catholic Church, Shohola. Registration is at 1:30 p.m. Cars will leave St. Matthews, East Stroudsburg at noon.

Golden wedding celebrated by 200

SAYLORSBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Luther P. Koehler of Saylorburg were honored on their Golden Wedding anniversary at a celebration on Saturday, Oct. 12, at the Lily Pond Lodge, Saylorburg.

Rebecca Circle plans bazaar in November

PORTLAND — The Rebecca Circle of the Portland-Mount Bethel Community Presbyterian church met on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Fae Mantha at Columbia, N.J.

Mrs. Irving Duerr had charge of the lesson study. Walter Davidge, leader of the group, had charge of the business session when plans were made for the annual bazaar and supper which will be held on Nov. 8. Committees were appointed.

Refreshments were served to Miss Katherine Delp, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. William Delp, Mrs. Walter Davidge, Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter, Mrs. Irving Duerr, Mrs. Edwin Reid and the hostess, Mrs. Mantha.

The November meeting will be held the second Tuesday night in November at the home of Mrs. Edwin Reid at Columbia, N.J.

A buffet luncheon was served to 200 relatives and friends. Some of the guests came from as far as Yonkers, N.Y., Philadelphia, Williamsport and Walkersville, Md.

Mrs. Koehler is the former Mary Jane Getz, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Levi Getz. Mr. Koehler is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koehler. They were married in the Pleasant Valley Lutheran Parish parsonage, Gilbert by Rev. O. F. Etwein on Oct. 12, 1918.

They have one daughter, Emma.

Mr. Koehler was a potato farmer, specializing in certified seeds, until his retirement in 1962. He also has served as a councilman in his church, as school director in Ross Twp. and was one of the first directors of the West End Fair.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Koehler are members of Salem-St. Paul Lutheran Sunday School and Church, Kresgeville.

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1NT Pass 3NT

Opening lead—six of clubs.
This deal occurred in the Mixed Pair world championship played in Amsterdam in 1966. The bidding and outcome were both rather dramatic, even though the usual International flavor was lacking because all four players at the table were French.

South (G. Bourchot) initiated the proceedings (played on Bridge-O-Rama) with a perfectly normal spade bid. After West (Mrs. S. de Temmerman) responded two diamonds, which was also quite normal.

But East (Mrs. C. Brochet), trading upon the favorable vulnerability, made a highly unusual two spade bid. Mrs. Brochet was decidedly short of the high-card values suggested by her cuebid, though she did have 6-5 distribution in the unbid suits as partial compensation.

When Bourchot jumped to four spades, Theron, unaware of his partner's deficiency of highcard tricks, doubled. Mrs. Temmerman, to whom it must have seemed that each of the four players had at least two or three aces, redoubled.

Mrs. Brochet, having grossly misrepresented her hand, could not possibly accept four spades whether doubled or redoubled. She therefore bid four notrump to force her partner to take a choice between hearts and clubs.

Theron obediently responded five hearts with the 7-6-5 and Mrs. Temmerman was faced with a difficult choice of bids. It was obvious from South's leap to four spades that there was a good chance for a slam, but arguing against this was the fact that Theron had already doubled four spades in the expectation of beating it.

Despite this, Mrs. Temmerman jumped to six spades, which everyone—including Theron—passed. Had Theron led a heart, the slam would have gone down, but instead he made what appeared to him the more promising lead—a club, his shorter suit.

Bourchot had no trouble making twelve tricks after conceding a trump trick, and the extraordinary proceedings finally came to an end.

Don't spill private life

BAD FRIENDS: (Q.) This boy and I began liking each other early this summer even though we had never met. He had told someone he liked me and I had told someone I liked him, and this is how we both got the message before my family and I left on summer vacation.

While I was gone this summer some of my so-called friends decided they would help things along for us. They found out his telephone number and address. It seems that they gave him prank calls and wrote untrue letters teasing him—using my name.

Although I won't be going to his school this fall, I feel that someone owes someone an apology. I still like this boy, and I need your advice. — Help in Spokane, Wash.

(A.) It's sad when friends are such "bad news." You surely can't trust them enough now to clear your good name, and you will have to handle the apologies yourself.

You should explain the situation to the boy in person or through a polite, casual note.

Lesson Learned: Keep your personal business to yourself. When you see a boy you like, do your own communicating. If he is attracted to you, you can get his eye and ear without sending messages through others.

FASHION RIGHT: (Q.) I have a few pairs of textured and opaque stockings left over from last year. Would these be fashion right for school this year? — C. in Tulsa, Okla.

(A.) Yes, the covered leg is still very much "in." If your skirts are very short, be sure these are pantyhose for school.

SEXPOT: (Comment) I've been dating a certain boy for six months. Before dating him I had heard rumors that he was a "sexpot."

Now, I've lost my best girl friend because I continued to date this "sexpot."

These rumors were so unfair, because I have found out how nice this boy really is. We haven't done anything to be sorry for and probably we never will.

Please tell your readers how bad it is to start and to believe rumors.

A Reader in Nova Scotia (A.) Starting untrue stories is one of the most vicious things we can do to another person.

However, girls should always be careful when they're out to prove rumors such as these about a boy are false!

Ida Kunkle, 52, S-burg, Red Cross leader, dies

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Ida M. Kunkle of 514 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, died Thursday morning in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Mrs. Kunkle was a former leader and dedicated supporter of the local American Red Cross Program, serving as executive secretary of the Monroe County Chapter for 30 years.

In 1957, at the time of her retirement, Mrs. Kunkle was honored for her service and devotion to the Monroe County community by more than 150 persons. Her span of office embraced the history of two World Wars and a disastrous flood.

Her leadership in enlisting the help of volunteers formed a basis of strength for the local chapter, changing it from an emergency type aid to a full time service in peace and local disaster.

Together with the officers of the chapter and volunteers, Mrs. Kunkle helped build the local chapter's blood donor program into one of the strongest in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Politics also interested Mrs. Kunkle and she voiced strong opposition to women's suffrage. However, she was later appointed to be the first Democratic Committeewoman of the Monroe County Democratic Party.

Mrs. Kunkle was born in Brodheadsville, the daughter of the late Frank and Elizabeth Serfass. Her husband, the late honorable E. T. Kunkle died in 1922.

She was a graduate of the former Fairview Academy in Brodheadsville.

She was a member of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance, serving on the board for many years; the Women's Club of the Stroudsburgs and the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs; St. John's Lutheran Church; past president of the Ladies Aid Society of the church.

She is survived by her son, Parke, of Stroudsburg; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Nace of West Covina, Calif., and Mrs. Charlotte Kresge, Schenectady, N. Y.; one sister, Mrs. Leleah Butz, Allentown, and six grandchildren.

Services and burial will be private and held at the convenience of the family. There will be no visitation.

Dunkelberger and Klofack Funeral Home, Stroudsburg, is in charge of arrangements.

Albert Sobers, store owner, dies

BRODHEADSVILLE — Albert Sobers, 58, of Brodheadsville, owner and operator of meat markets in Wind Gap and McIlhenny with his son, James, died Thursday night in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Kresge Funeral Home, Brodheadsville.

Mrs. Dyson, Swiftwater, dies at 64

SWIFTWATER — Mrs. Beatrice A. Dyson, 64, of Swiftwater, died Thursday in her home.

She was a daughter of the late Eugene and Bertha Werkheiser Felker of Appenzell. She was an employee at Strickland's Inn for 25 years.

She is survived by her husband, Leroy Dyson of Swiftwater; one son, Edmond of Swiftwater; a daughter, Mary, of Swiftwater; one sister, Mrs. Thomas Dyson of Swiftwater, and a brother, Russell Felker of Swiftwater, and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. from the Gantzhorn Funeral Home, Tannersville, with the Rev. William F. Wunder officiating.

Burial will be in St. Paul's Reformed Cemetery, Swiftwater.

Friends and relatives may pay their respects on Saturday after 7 p.m. at the funeral home.

Ex-resident dies at 81

LONG POND — Theodore Heller of Trenton, N. J., formerly of Long Pond, died Oct. 12 at the age of 81.

Heller was born in Long Pond, a son of the late Nathan and Loretta Heller of Long Pond, where he attended school.

Heller moved to Trenton and worked on the railroad, retiring at 65.

He is survived by two brothers, LeRoy Heller, Morrisville, and Stanton Heller, Washington, N. J.

Chest hits 58 per cent of goal

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Community Chest reached 58 per cent of its 1968 goal Thursday, Jack Parker, campaign chairman, reported.

Parker in addressing volunteers at a meeting at the Penn Stroud Hotel, said, "The grand total as of today is $77,706."

The Community Chest is seeking $132,756 to aid 11 agencies in the Monroe County health and welfare organization.

The report noted that Advanced Gifts had hit $64,496 of which the Industrial Division totaled $18,695.

Under $25 contributions reported were $13,110.

Parker called for "a concentrated effort to reach our goal."

It was announced that another industry had gained the 1968 Community Chest Honor Roll. National Drug Company of Swiftwater was the newest firm added to Chest's "Stars of the year." Drug's employees upped their contributions nearly 300 per cent, outgiving '67's donations by $277.

County reports dam progress

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Commissioner Elwood Hintze reported Thursday that progress is being made concerning the three dams on the Upper Brodheads Creek.

Hintze told his fellow commissioners that two dams on Goose Pond and Buck Hill property have been completely staked out by County Engineer Edward Hess.

However, there seems to be somewhat of a problem concerning the dam which is to be located on the Skyview Estates property, according to Hintze.

Hintze said that one of the four property owners involved wants to sell his property and this is holding up any action that might be taken with that location.

The dam which is proposed for the Skyview Estates property is to be a multi-purpose dam for both flood control and recreation.

Hintze said that firm commitments must be made in regard to all the property by January 30, 1969, in order to qualify for reimbursement by the state.

Hintze also said that acquisition of easements must be finalized by March 1, 1970.

Retired men to relieve at hospital

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg's Men of Retirement Age have decided to "go out in a big way" in providing volunteer help for the General Hospital of Monroe County.

MORA Club members at their latest meeting acted on the request from the General Hospital with the following schedule of services to continue throughout the year:

Volunteers for clerical work in the emergency department on Saturdays and Sundays, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.; entertainment for the sixth floor, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.; transportation to the hospital, Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Interested MORA members should contact Mrs. Mary Hoke, director of volunteer services at the hospital.

Plans were outlined for film showings on special order.

At Sommer, Rudolph Schubert, Frank Eilenberger and others gave details of visits to the Berwick MORA convocation.

Walter Freunscht, visitor from Ulica Masome Home, was greeted.

'Gut issues' discussed

Cohen gives solution for Vietnam War

By GIL MURRAY

Record News Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG — Peter G. Cohen, an independent candidate for Congress is concerned with the "gut issues" of the current campaign... ending the war in Vietnam and eradicating poverty.

Thursday, Cohen once again spoke out on the two dominant themes of his platform, this time to members of the Association of Liberal Students at East Stroudsburg State College.

The Common Sense Party candidate told the students of his theory for ending the war: create an enlarged demilitarized zone in southeast Asia.

Cohen is attempting to unseat incumbent Democrat Fred B. Rooney, Bethlehem, and is also opposing Republican Paul Henderson, Allentown.

The Neola artist called for an immediate cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam and the creation of a DMZ which would include North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Cohen told the students that this would be a workable plan because all the countries involved would "make out."

He said the solution would provide a diplomatic escape for

The trial of Catherine Hanna, Saylorsburg, will enter its second day of testimony, Mrs. Hanna is charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Hanna's trial began Thursday afternoon with three witnesses for the prosecution taking the stand.

Assistant District Attorney Phillip P. Santucci informed the jury that the prosecution would prove that Mrs. Hanna was involved in an accident, that she did leave the scene without stopping, that she did cause injury to a person or property and that she had been the driver of the car.

The first witness to take the stand and testify was Stroudsburg Police Officer Richard B. Wolbert.

Wolbert described his investigation of the accident and testified that when he confronted Mrs. Hanna about the accident, she said that she thought she had an accident, that someone had told her that she might have had an accident and that she had tried to stop the car but her brakes would not hold.

Stroudsburg Police Officer Kenneth Williams followed Wolbert to the stand and corroborated Wolbert's testimony about the investigation.

Williams added that he had driven Mrs. Hanna's car which was found at Weichel Buck on Main Street, Stroudsburg, immediately after the accident and that Mrs. Hanna was seated in the car behind the steering wheel.

Williams said that he drove Mrs. Hanna's car about 50 feet in Weichel's parking lot to test the brakes. He said they appeared to be in fine shape to him.

U.S. maintains 'detente' with Russia, officials claim

By PETE GRADY

Pocono Record Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG — Two state department officials agreed that the United States' long range policy vis-a-vis Russia remains "detente," as easing of discord between the two power blocs, even in the feeble light of the recent Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Carsten Darwin Muller, Economic Officer, French-Benelux Affairs, and Robert E. Lamb, operations officer, office of personnel were interviewed Thursday prior to a dinner and seminar on "The Common Market" with students and faculty of the East Stroudsburg State College.

Joining the discussion was Walter Melnikoff, Pocono Mountain High School science teacher, and Dr. Kurt Wimer, head of ESSC's social science department.

Both officials gave an emphatic "no" to the question: "Is this a good time to negotiate with Russia?" Any present negotiations on the part of the U.S. might lead Russia to conclude that this country was overly anxious to negotiate.

Muller viewed the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia as a "short term" victory and said that the Soviets came out of the venture with "a black eye" viewed from other Communist factions, namely in Italy and France.

Lamb said that the Czechs were forced to make some sort of accommodation and saw the Russian invasion falling far short of a military victory.

Muller and Lamb agreed that there were concrete signs of Carsten Darwin Muller, left, economic officer, French-Benelux Affairs and Robert Lamb, operations officer, office of personnel, U.S. State Dept., stand in front of a bygone era of American politics in the office of Dr. Kurt Wimer, East Stroudsburg State College professor who has written several books on Woodrow Wilson.

restlessness in Russia today.

"The recent demonstrations by Russian citizens in the Red Square (Moscow)," Muller said. "They were hauled into court and they still objected to this treatment by the police, citing that this was a restriction on their movements and speech."

Lamb believed that the alleged restlessness predated the Czech crisis, that the informed populace, especially the students had been voicing dissent for a number of years.

"Today, Russian punishment is definitely not Draconian," Muller said, alluding to the ancient Athenian code of laws in which most offenses were meted out with the death penalty.

Speaking on the "cold war," Lamb thought that a cooling stage was evident between the two powers. "We and the Soviets have parallel interests," Lamb said. He believed that the interests would remain firm because of the wide hostility towards Russia and the U.S. from the have-not countries south of the equator.

Two parallel interests were non-proliferation of nuclear arms and limiting the arms race in other fields, Lamb said. But he added that these interests had to be viewed with "wary cooperation."

"Each of us (U.S. and Russia) are standing fast in our own spheres of influence," Muller said.

In answer to Dr. Wimer who asked the officials if the Czech situation had hardened a possible detente between the two power blocs, both men said that it put a strain on a detente.

Melnikoff asked if the possible halt in this country's bombing of North Vietnam might have any effect on the Presidential election.

Muller declined to answer but Lamb said that China was accusing Russia and the U.S. of making a deal, that since Russia had invaded Czechoslovakia with nothing more than a stiff verbal protest from the United States, it was now America's turn to play a trump card by announcing a halt in the bombing.

Speaking on the Common Market, Muller said that DeGaulle's stubborn reluctance to admit Britain as a member of the Common Market slowed down the progress of the Market and prevented it from developing into a thriving European community.

Parcel post increases Saturday

STROUDSBURG — Postmaster Fred H. Rhodes reminded postal customers that higher parcel post and catalog rates will go into effect Saturday, Oct. 19.

The rate increase will average 10.5 per cent and in most cases will mean an additional 10 cents postage per parcel.

The higher rates were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in July.

Under the new rates, the minimum charge for local parcel delivery will go from 40 cents to 50 cents. The minimum charge for parcels destined outside the local delivery area will be raised from 50 cents to 60 cents.

Almost all parcels that are charged up to $1.10 under present rates will go up 10 cents. This accounts for more than 80 per cent of all parcel post. Postmaster Rhodes pointed out.

There will be a 15-cent hike on most parcels now charged between $1.10 and $4, and a 20-cent increase on parcels now charged over $4.

Parcel post rates are based on the weight of the package and the distance it is mailed.

Jury clears man of prowling near Marshalls Creek resort

STROUDSBURG — Ronald C. Cortright, East Stroudsburg R. D. 2, Thursday, was found not guilty of a charge of loitering and prowling on the grounds of Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek.

The jury returned the verdict late Thursday morning after being charged by Judge Arlington W. Williams. Cortright's trial began Tuesday.

In other trials, a jury returned a verdict of guilty against Earl T. Kresge, Scottdale, charged with drunken driving. Judge Fred W. Davis deferred the sentencing of Kresge until early next month.

Testimony in the trial of George H. Stam continued into its second day with Judge Williams presiding. Stam is charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Stam's trial will enter its third day today when Judge Williams is expected to charge the jury.

The trial of Catherine Hanna, Saylorsburg, will enter its second day of testimony, Mrs. Hanna is charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Hanna's trial began Thursday afternoon with three witnesses for the prosecution taking the stand.

Assistant District Attorney Phillip P. Santucci informed the jury that the prosecution would prove that Mrs. Hanna was involved in an accident, that she did leave the scene without stopping, that she did cause injury to a person or property and that she had been the driver of the car.

The first witness to take the stand and testify was Stroudsburg Police Officer Richard B. Wolbert.

Wolbert described his investigation of the accident and testified that when he confronted Mrs. Hanna about the accident, she said that she thought she had an accident, that someone had told her that she might have had an accident and that she had tried to stop the car but her brakes would not hold.

Stroudsburg Police Officer Kenneth Williams followed Wolbert to the stand and corroborated Wolbert's testimony about the investigation.

Williams added that he had driven Mrs. Hanna's car which was found at Weichel Buck on Main Street, Stroudsburg, immediately after the accident and that Mrs. Hanna was seated in the car behind the steering wheel.

Williams said that he drove Mrs. Hanna's car about 50 feet in Weichel's parking lot to test the brakes. He said they appeared to be in fine shape to him.

Eugene Mutchler, service manager at Weichel Buck, followed Williams with his testimony about the brakes of Mrs. Hanna's car. He said that after the police had left Weichel's, he drove Mrs. Hanna to her home in Saylorsburg. He indicated that he had cause to use the brakes about six times in the course of the 15 mile trip to Saylorsburg and that he detected no problems or malfunctioning of the brakes.

U.S. gold medal total hits nine

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—America's young swimmers, expected to dominate the 1968 Olympic Games, once again set world records in the women's 400-meter medley relay and the men's 400-meter freestyle relay Thursday and Willie Davenport turned in an Olympic record performance in the 110-meter high hurdles to raise the U.S. gold medal total to nine.

The United States also picked up a silver medal when Erv Hall of Philadelphia finished second in the hurdles and a surprise bronze medal in the 50-kilometer walk when Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif., came from far back in the final 15 kilometers to finish third.

The girls' 400-meter medley relay team of Kaye Hall of Tacoma, Wash., Katie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Calif., and Sue Pedersen of Sacramento, Calif., splashed through the water in 4:28.3 to easily beat the world record of 4:30.7 set by an American quartet a year ago. Moments after the girls had climbed out of the pool and picked up their gold medals, Zachary Zorn of Buena Park, Calif., Steve Reyher of Palerson, N.J., Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., and Ken Walsh of Ponte Vedra, Fla., dived in and churned out a world record 3:31.7 in the 400-meter freestyle relay. That mark beat the listed world record, set by an American team earlier this year, by eight tenths of a second.

Erv Hall won a semi-final heat of the 110-hurdles earlier in the day in 13.3 seconds to beat the old Olympic record of 13.5 shared by Lee Calhoun and Jack Davis, and then saw Davenport, whose home is in Warren, Ohio, come on to tie the mark in taking the final. Hall was clocked in 13.4 in the final, the same time given to Eddy Ottoz of Italy, who closed fast to prevent Leon Coleman of Winston-Salem, N.C., from making it a Yank sweep.

When the two received their medals, they stood on the victory platform and waved to the crowd. Then, while the national anthem was being played, they stood at rigid attention and made none of the "Black Power" gestures Tommie Smith and John Carlos did Wednesday night while receiving their medals in the 200-meter dash.

U.S. women divers also dominated competition and the United States placed all seven of its boats into the rowing finals, making it the first time in Olympic history they had been able to dominate the sport.

While the United States medal haul for the day amounted to three golds, one silver and one bronze for a total of 17 after five days of Olympic competition, Russia showed its strength by bagging two golds—in the triple jump where its victory Saneev set a world record of 57-3.4 and light heavyweight weightlifting—four silvers, and two bronze for a game total of 15.

The day's other gold medals—there were 12 in all—went to East Germany's Christopher Hohne, who won the walk in four hours, 20 minutes and 13.6 seconds; to Hungary's Gyula Zsivotsky in the hammer with an Olympic record throw of 238-11; to Mohamed Gammoudi of Tunisia, who held off Kenya's Kipchoge Keino and 10,000 meter gold medalist Neftali Temu to win the 5,000 meter run in 14:05.0; to Czechoslovakia's Miroslava Rezkova who took the women's high jump at 5-11 5/8, to Hungary in the modern pentathlon team competition and to Sweden's Bjorn Fern in the pentathlon individual competition, and to France's Pierre Trentin in the 1,000 meter individual cycling time trials.

The United States, while it has won only seven track and field gold medals this time compared to 14 at Tokyo, is in position to bag four more on Friday—in the women's 200-meter dash, 80-meter high hurdles and 800-meter run and in the men's 400 run.

Wyomia Tyus of Griffin, Ga., who won the 100 meter dash gold medal on Tuesday, Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who set a games mark of 22.9, and Margaret Johnson Bailes of Eugene, Ore., are the entries in the 200.

2 firsts, world marks for U.S. relay teams

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The United States began its drive for gold and glory in swimming in the Olympic Games Thursday night with gold medals and world record victories in both the men's 400-meter freestyle relay and the women's 400-meter medley relay.

In addition Micki King of Pontiac, Mich., took the lead in women's springboard diving. The U.S. men's relay led all the way to post a clocking of 3:31.7—breaking the listed world mark of 3:32.5 set by a U.S.

Trio share first in Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, dropping in long birdie putts on three of the final four holes, fired a four-under-par 67 Thursday for a share of the first round lead in the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament with veterans Dale Douglass and Bill Collins.

Nicklaus, who is seeking his third straight Sahara title, and his co-leaders each carded nines of 34-33 on the par 36-35 Paradise Valley Country Club course for a one-stroke lead.

Deadlocked in second place were PGA champion Julius Boros, Kermit Zarley and Joe Porter.

Seeking his third PGA tour victory in his final 1968 appearance in the U. S., Nicklaus had a pair of birdies on three-foot putts on the front nine but bogeyed the 11th.

There was a five-way tie at 69 among Johnny Stevens, Jack Fleck, Lionel Hebert, Larry Mowry and George Archer.

Nearly a score of players were deadlocked at 70.

Billy Casper, the San Diego, Calif. veteran who is less than $21,000 away from earning $200,000 on the PGA tour this year, had an even par 71.

Collins, who plays out of Purchase, N. Y., made five birdies and one bogey in the opening round of the 72-hole medal play affair. He is playing in only his 16th tournament of the year.

"I was missing the short ones all day and all of a sudden I started making the long ones," the smiling Nicklaus explained.

Collins also credited his putter for performance. "I putted pretty good," he said. "Everything jelled pretty well."

The 32-year-old Douglass, from Denver, played in the afternoon and tied Nicklaus and Collins five hours after they had completed their morning rounds.

quartet earlier this year as well the Olympic record of 3:33.2 held by the United States. Russia was second.

The U.S. women's relay also led all the way but was closely pressed every stroke of the distance by Australia and virtually driven to a world record time of 4:28.3.

Miss King, an Air Force lieutenant, overcame an early lead by Tamara Pogozheva of Russia to lead by 98.17 points to 97.50 with three dives to come Friday night.

Members of the winning U.S. men's team were Zachary Zorn of Buena Park, Calif., Steve Reyher of Palerson, N.J., Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., and Ken Walsh of Ponte Vedra, Fla. The winning U.S. girls were Kaye Hall of Tacoma, Wash., Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Calif., and Sue Pedersen of Sacramento, Calif.

In the women's springboard diving, Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., was third with 97.32 points and Kcala O'Sullivan of Honolulu, Hawaii, fourth with 95.58. Defending champion Ingrid Kramer of Germany was far back.

In the men's relay, Zorn swam the first leg for the U.S. and finished in 53.4 for a one meter lead over Frank Wiegand of East Germany. Reyher swam the second leg and simply held his own against Horst Gregor of East Germany with Australia a close third.

Spitz, world record holder in several events, increased the American lead in the third leg against Bob Windoe of Australia and Udo Poser of East Germany, but Windoe took second place from Poser.

Walsh swam the final U.S. leg and was given a strong battle by Mike Wenden of Australia until Wenden tired in the last 25 meters.

As Wenden tired, Iljchev of Russia slipped passed him to grab the silver medal, and Wenden held off Britain's G. Jarvis successfully to save the bronze.

Miss Hall led off the U.S. women's relay on the backstroke leg against Lynne Watson of Australia and finished a half body length ahead. World record holder Miss Ball barely held off Judy Playfair of Australia in the second leg.

Wings net four in 3rd to rout NY

DETROIT (UPI) — Pete Stankowski triggered a four-goal third period Thursday night to give Detroit Red Wings' rookie coach Bill Gadsby his first National Hockey League victory, a 7-2 win over the New York Rangers.

Stankowski blasted in a shot 39 seconds into the final period off a rebound by captain Alex Delvecchio, who assisted twice and tied the score at 2-2 in the second period. Then young Gary Unger took a pass from Gordie Howe in the corner and slammed it by befuddled Rangers' goalie Ed Giacomin.

Stankowski's goal was the opening kickoff when Bob Strubilla ran 35 yards after picking up a fumble. But from then on it was all Kutztown, who has now won nine straight games over a two-year period. Halfback John Gorman led the winners with three TDs on runs of 8 and 15 yards from scrimmage and caught a 15-yard pass from Harry Wallace. Larry Kendall, Fred Green and Craig Rain accounted for the other Bear touchdowns.

Buckhorn booters tie Delval, 2 to 2

HAWLEY — Bob Morgan's goal with less than a minute remaining in the fourth period earned Wallenpaupack High to a 2-2 tie with Delaware Valley Thursday in a Wayne County League game.

Delval leads the pack with a 6-1 record while the Buckhorns are 4-3-2. Honesdale is Delaware Valley's chief threat with a 6-2-1 record. Delval is at home with Waymart Saturday.

The visitors took a 1-0 lead in the first two minutes of the opening period on a 15-yard shot by Jay McCasline. Hen Hayes picked up an assist on the goal. Wallenpaupack tied the count three minutes later on an unassisted goal by Jwan Villamayor.

Delval regained the lead at the four minute mark of the second period on a Bruce Chaffee goal from 15 yards out. McCasline picked up the assist.

It remained that way until Morgan's goal. The two Delval goalies were credited with 13 saves while Rich Anke in the Wallenpaupack goal stopped 18 shots.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

Broadway

NEW YORK — Garry Moore had a heart attack... Ralph Bellamy's dad died at 93... Gen. David Sarnoff (RCA topman) had a second ear operation at Lenox Hill Hospital and the grand old guy is well enough to sit up and eat both lunches and dinners sent in from the "21" club... America's top painter Andrew Wyeth safely sneaked past a serious pneumonia attack in Maine, scary because he has only one lung... Reader's Digest is rumored unloading its Funk & Wagnalls subsidiary with bidders including Crown Publications and Lambert Pharmaceuticals.

Dean Jagger, divorced from his oriental wife Gloria, remarried; tiny punchline: Dean played Brigham Young in films and his bride is a Mormon... Lana Turner making a movie in the South of France had a small riot with her producer and he withdrew from the assignment... Lana's getting $25,000 a week for her troubles... A top television star's husband will get her punchdrunk if he doesn't stop with the alky-muscles.

Countess Veevee Crespi figures her ex-mate Count Marco Fabio Crespi doesn't expect to visit the U.S.A. soon: owes her years of back alimony but managed to buy himself a $20,000 Ferrari... Portents of election to come: Theodore H. White, the "Making of a President" quadrennial-author, is interviewing Dick Nixon at much longer length and depth than Humphrey.

Lord Edward Fitzgerald just became old enough to become a captain in author Eric Hatch's private army in Connecticut... Ed's 75... Hatch actually commands a standing Connecticut army, as permitted by state law; his gentlemen warriors merely must swear allegiance to the governor... Takes the place of polo in their lives... Lord Ed Fitzgerald (of radio's nobility) wore a uniform for his swearing-in — his World War One flyer's outfit (Curse you, Red Baron!)

Kris Nelson, Rick's wife and sportscaster Tummy Harmon's daughter, went to dine with friends in the Warwick's Raleigh Room in a pants suit; man at door stopped her; Kris said she understood such outfits were okay; man opined her outfit was not in style; Kris made an end sweep around headwaiter "Who are you to dictate style?" Later, hotel officially offered apologies.

"Button Up Your Overcoat" was sold to television commercials for a figure close to $100,000 (it was written by DeSylva, Brown & Henderson; some 40 years ago; only songsmith living of the three is Ray Henderson)... Adam Clayton Powell seems to be making the African Room of Times Square his playpen: told his big party there he is the creator of the "Keep the Faith, Baby" catch-call and is working to popularize another that goes with a handshake: "We're uptight, baby"... Crowd gathered outside and he waved and said, "They love me!"

Florence Henderson had her choice of starting a movie ("The One With the Fuzz") or the new television series "The Brady Bunch" and chose the television show; it would have been her first film; later for that... Midtown scene: A young cop at 51st St. and Broadway talking a tipsy elderly John out of going with a streetwalker and being roundly belted with obscenities by the prosaic, the cop won.

Cassius Clay regularly has been standing in front of the Americana and Taft Hotels genially signing autographs; enjoys it.

The N.Y. State 77th Army Reserves decreed young men positively cannot drill wearing long hair: two young reservists also of the rock group The Happenings got haircuts all right — and bought wigs for their performances... Prince Rainier hopped back to France a trifle excitedly this time — took Japan Airlines.

Actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is leading the fight to get absentee Yanks in England to vote for Humphrey: for king?... "Sarang" is a new novel by Roger Caras and three film firms are bidding for it: it's about a blind Pakistani boy who is given a "seeing-eye tiger" (tall together now: "Awwwwww").

Peace rumors spur market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mounting speculation of a possible peace breakthrough in Vietnam was a major factor in a brisk stock market rally Thursday on the third heaviest trading day on record. Softness appeared in the afternoon to knock many issues from their best levels.

Observers noted some of the late selling reflected a lack of conclusive news regarding progress toward peace. Speculation rose that the South Vietnamese President Thieu had raised objections to certain American proposals.

Other major bullish influences included the faster than expected rise in the nation's output of goods and services during the third quarter, and a sizable jump in housing starts last month reported by the Commerce Department.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, gained 0.46 per cent on 1,675 issues crossing the tape. Advances outnumbered declines, 849 to 566. There were 143 new highs and 12 new lows.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which reflects movement in the blue chips, climbed 3.60 to 958.91. The D J rails and utilities also moved ahead.

The New York Stock Exchange index mirrored an advance of 28 cents in the average common share price.

Turnover totaled 21,060,000 shares as against 13,410,000 shares in the previous session. The volume was surpassed Oct. 3 when a total of 21,100,000 shares was traded, and last June 13, with a record 21,350,000 shares.

National Dairy topped the list of 15 most active issues, rising 1/4 to 44 1/2 to 44 3/4 on 323,300 shares, also including a block of 80,000 shares at 43 1/2. The company recently reported increased third quarter earnings.

Standard Oil of New Jersey rounded out the top three most active issues. It rose 1/4 to 80 1/2 on 244,200 shares, including the blocks of 115,000 and 30,000 shares trading at 80.

Market indexes

NYSE Index 958.91 up 3.60
Dow Jones Ind. 958.91 up 3.60

Of the remaining most active issues, 10 advanced and two declined.

Corning Glass Works, which fell considerably in recent sessions, dropped another 3/4. It announced reduced earnings for the first three quarters of fiscal 1968.

Keebler Co. slipped 1/4, while Watkins-Johnson lost 5/4. Crowell Collier & MacMillan rose 3/4. The firm boosted its cash offer for C. G. Conn Ltd., manufacturer of musical instruments.

ITT advanced 1/4, while Canteen Corp. climbed 2 1/2. The firms announced agreement to merge through an exchange of stock.

Sharon Steel sported a gain of 3/4. NVF Corp. said it has sweetened its offer for the steel firm NVF added 1/4.

Uniray moved up 1 1/2 following a sharp increase in earnings for the third quarter and nine months.

In the steels, Jones & Laughlin led the group with a rise of 4. General Motors and Chrysler topped the motors, climbing

1 1/2 and 1 1/4, respectively. Ford rose 3/4.

Chemicals were mixed. Du Pont and Dow added more than a point apiece.

Phillips picked up 1/4 in the oils, but Getty and Pennzoil lost 1/4 and 1/2, respectively.

Loew's Theatres dropped 1/4 in the glamors after rising sharply in previous sessions. Other losers were Xerox and Itek, each falling 3/4, and American Research, down 3.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in active trading. Volume rose to 8,251,755 shares, up from 6,417,125 shares in the previous session. The Amex index was up nine cents to $30.86. Of the 1,014 issues traded, 474 advanced, 410 declined and 130 were unchanged.

Everybody's Business

Snowmobile legion growing annually

STROUDSBURG — The legion of clear-eyed, rudely-cheeked snowmobilers is expected to continue its amazing growth following the news from the state Game Commission that Game Lands will be open to their breed from Jan. 15 through April 15.

New machine sales have almost doubled each year in recent years and last year's sales alone are estimated at over 150,000.

This trend has had a bullish effect on related businesses—makers of suits and other special clothing for the wintery outdoorsmen.

Likewise snowmobilers have brought new business to hotels, motels and restaurants to areas where enthusiasts gather.

Snowmobilers are reminded however that although Game Lands are now open in addition to the previously available state park lands, some restrictions do exist. For instance, the motorized winter buggies are forbidden in game refuges or other special sections.

Also, carrying loaded firearms in snowmobiles is expressly against the law.

Although there is a small percentage of "spoilers" among snowmobilers—as in any group of people—the more responsible elements far outnumber them.

Throughout Pennsylvania as well as throughout the country, snowmobilers are organizing clubs for the safe and beneficial use of the machines.

In addition, hot-rod snowmobile racing has become a popular sport attracting thousands of paying spectators.

A "scooped-up" machine can exceed 80 miles per hour with a professional at the controls. This is not advised for the Sunday excursionist however.

Restaurant to open

EAST STROUDSBURG — The grand opening for the Carriage House Restaurant will be held today, with a fashion show by Vivacious Fashions at noon.

There will be free orchids for the ladies and souvenirs for everyone in attendance. There will be live music in the afternoon and at night.

Luncheons will be served from 11:30 a.m. and dinners from 5:30 p.m. Sunday dinners will be served from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m.

The Carriage House is located at the junction of Rt. 209 and Rt. 417 at the Eagle Valley Mall in East Stroudsburg.

SAAB absorbs costs

NEW HAVEN, CONN. — In the face of price increases declared by American and European automobile companies, SAAB, the Swedish aircraft and automobile manufacturer, has announced to add the extra 15-lb per capacity, the N&W will weld a 15-inch steel extension to the sides and ends of the class 11-11 hoppers, increasing the overall height from 11 feet to 12 feet three inches.

News briefs on area servicemen

Dwight E. Marshall
GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Seaman Apprentice Dwight E. Marshall, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin A. Marshall, of Marshall Creek, United States Navy, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

Thomas R. DeRenzis
WICHITA FALLS, Tex. — Airman Thomas R. DeRenzis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. DeRenzis of 812 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, has been graduated from a United States Air Force technical school at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

He was trained as a pavements specialist and has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command at Dyess AFB, Tex.

The airman attended Stroudsburg High School.

Thomas C. Coco
GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Seaman Apprentice Thomas C. Coco, United States Navy, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Coco of East Stroudsburg R.D. 3, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

John T. Darden
SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Fireman Apprentice John T. Darden Jr., United States Navy, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Darden Sr. of Tobyhanna, is serving aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Oklahoma City homeported in San Diego.

Oklahoma is capable of steaming halfway around the world without refueling. Facilities located on the ship include barber shops, laundry and dry cleaners, a soda fountain and movies for her more than 1,100 personnel.

In November, the ship is scheduled to steam for Yokosuka, Japan to take over as Flagship for the Commander of the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Carl G. Stengel
GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Seaman Apprentice Carl G. Stengel, United States Navy, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Stengel of Henryville R.D. 1, has completed his two weeks of annual active duty for training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., and has returned to his local Naval Reserve unit.

Naval Reservists receive intensive training in subjects such as naval history and organization, customs, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty. A vigorous physical fitness program rounds out the training.

Returning to his local unit, he will be provided with modern educational and technical facilities, and training under regular Navy officers and petty officers to enable him to become proficient in one of the many Navy technical fields.

Louis L. Halstead
USS CORAL SEA — Airman Louis L. Halstead, United States Navy, 23, son of Mrs. Mable M. Halstead of 111 First St., Stroudsburg, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

He participated in the ship's Operational Readiness Inspection conducted off the coast of Hawaii. The inspection was a two and one-half day series of drills and exercises graded by the U.S. Seventh Fleet Training Group from Pearl Harbor.

The purpose of the inspection was to test and evaluate such departments as Air, Weapons, Operations, Damage Control and the Combat Information Center under simulated combat conditions.

Coral Sea is now underway on her fourth consecutive cruise to the Gulf of Tonkin.

Barry R. Nauman
VIETNAM — Marine Private First Class Barry R. Nauman, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Nauman of Woodland Road, Swiftwater, is serving with the First Marine Division in South Vietnam.

As a member of the division he helps capture or destroy enemy forces. During large and small scale operations he is supported by Marine air units, tanks, artillery, amphibian tractors and engineers.

His unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, such as the building of wells, culverts, small bridges and schools. Equipment and materials are made available through the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund.

Robert F. Notz
THAILAND — Staff Sergeant Robert F. Notz Sr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Notz, Normark Trailer Park, Stroudsburg, has been recognized for helping the Third Air Division earn the United States Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sgt. Notz, an aircraft maintenance crew chief assigned at U-Tapao Airfield, Thailand, will wear the distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

The division was cited for exceptionally meritorious service while engaged in military operations against the enemy in Southeast Asia from March 1966 to March 1968.

The sergeant is a 1956 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School.

His wife, Constance, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Van Wic of 5028 Spring Rd., Verona, N.Y.

John F. Lilley
WEST POINT, N.Y. — John P. Lilley, 18, a son of Army Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Charles E. Lilley, 63 Reeder St., Mount Pocono, has been named a Distinguished Cadet at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

Cadet Lilley, a sophomore, received the honor for having stood within the top five per cent of his class during the academic year which ended in June.

In recognition of his scholastic achievement, he was awarded the five-pointed star for excellence in scholarship at a review held here recently, and will wear the star on the collar of his full dress coat.

George P. Reiz
SAN CRISTOBAL, PANAMA — Seaman George P. Reiz, 21, United States Navy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Reiz Sr. of 85 Kinney Ave., Mount Pocono, is serving aboard the oceanographic ship USS San Pablo.

San Pablo has completed an oceanographic and geophysical operation in the western Caribbean Sea in support of naval operations. The survey provides data which will illuminate scientific problems pertaining to the spreading of water masses in the Caribbean and the Yucatan Basins.

In addition, the data collected will be used to update bathymetric and magnetic charts and to provide ground-truth data for correlation with satellite photographs.

The ship is now in San Cristobal, Panama, about 70 miles west of the Panama Canal.

Your Horoscope By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)
— You may be caused inconvenience at odd times. Take them in the Aries' philosophic manner. A warm, rewarding period for the eager, systematic and tolerant.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)
— You may have to cope with more than you planned now, but it can be done—and, surprisingly, with dexterity. Business, work issues, home-making will require special concentration.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)
— Especially favored now: Matters requiring imagination and versatility. In everyday pursuits, don't be careless just because they ARE "everyday," however.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)
— Express yourself so as not to aggravate a possibly tense situation; the diplomat must work at his "stock in trade" in everyday matters as well as in important projects. Be wary of "get-rich-quick" schemes.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)
— A grand chance for the Leoite to organize everybody's talents, discuss readjustments, project a whole new approach to success. Take due precautions in unfamiliar areas, however.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
— If you have hopes that something good will happen to you, do something definite about it. Don't sit and wait for things to happen. And don't expect the unreasonable.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
— Getting your schedule started promptly, placing everything in its proper perspective, and keeping your wits, despite some opposition, will keep you a front-runner.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)
— You could get yourself into "hot water," have unwanted repercussions if you do not follow a soundly prescribed route. Avoid inconsistency and impulsiveness.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)
— It could be easy to "pick a quarrel," to hassle now. Smile, take it in stride when opposition is strong and the tendency is to strike out against it injudiciously.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)
— Seek expert advice before engaging in transactions, carrying out intricate or weighty matters. During discussions, listen before you speak.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)
— Trim sails, aim to reimburse where due, chalk up all the credits you can—not omitting the "little" items that could turn out to be pretty big in the long run.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)
— Neptune's auspicious aspect now encourages the completion of unfinished tasks as well as the initiation of new enterprises. An excellent time, in fact, to try anything novel or unique.

YOU BORN TODAY are gifted with foresight, intuition and a philosophical viewpoint. It is often up to YOUR knowledge to coordinate your many talents with those of associates in order to produce top achievement for all. You are endowed with historic ability, a strong sense of pride, fair-mindedness, amiability and industriousness. Curb emotions: Direct them to purposeful ends; don't be influenced by flattery or by "showy" persons. Look at facts realistically. Be as objective and unbiased as the "Scale" governed Libran should be. Birthdate of: Thomas Love Peacock, novelist, poet; Inger Stevens and Melina Mercouri, actresses.

WISHING WELL
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 10-18

EVINRUDE SKEETER

American built TOUGH!

Snowmobiling is no game for "weak sister" machines. That's why Skeeter engines are American-built by Evinrude—made specially for snowmobiles. Made to take the pounding of rough trails and to start fast on the coldest days. From the ground up, Evinrude has designed and built a snowmobile, that can take it. And if your Skeeter does need servicing, you'll never be far from an Evinrude Skeeter service center—no matter how far you roam from home. It's just one of the many good reasons to go Evinrude.

skiroule 69

"The Great Exciter"

This year, Skiroule 69 has the jump on the rest of the pack. Every model has increased horsepower for effortless riding over hill and dale. The body has been redesigned to give you extra strength, extra space, and extra-streamlined appearance. Rugged, anti-slip rubber footboard. Motor noise reduced to a minimum with a special new silencer on the carburetor. Improved track for sure grip, longer durability. Sorew-on cap closes over a five-gallon, waterproof, non-rusting gas tank.
